

Ottawa Welcomes U.S. President In State

State Of Siege May Be Asked By French Premier

PARIS (AP)—Usually well-informed sources said today that Premier Paul Ramadier was ready to ask the National Assembly to vote a state of siege in France if parleys with railroad union officials fail to halt by this afternoon a five-day-old French rail strike.

Ramadier, flanked by his transport minister, Jules Moch, conferred throughout the morning with a delegation of union workers from the state-owned railways headed by Raymond Tournemaine, their secretary-general, who said Monday the government could end the strike for a readjustment of wages, in short order if it wanted to do so.

GAS PRESSURE FALLS

Shortly before noon today workers in two of the gas-producing plants supplying Paris went on strike and a reduction in gas pressure was noticeable this afternoon.

Gas workers in the Paris suburbs of Rueil and St. Germain also came out. Others struck in Marseille, second largest city in France.

Production in the Paris electric power stations was reported reduced by 40 to 50 per cent by order of the local strike committees.

Observers feared a rapid extension of the utility strikes throughout France.

The executive committee of the Gas and Electricity Workers' Union, which represents about 200,000 members, was meeting again later today to consider the talks between Robert Lacoste, industrial minister, and the union representatives.

Ramadier's conference with railroad men failed after he was reported to have made a "pathetic" appeal for them to return to work.

TRAINS DELAYED

Developments elsewhere on the railroad tie-up were:

Four thousand passengers and numerous freight cars loaded with tomatoes, potatoes and fruits from north Africa were blocked in Marseille.

Seven ships were rerouted from Le Havre to Antwerp and Rotterdam.

Two steel mills shut down because of a lack of coke.

Motor buses carried 150 passengers for the Mauretania from Paris to Cherbourg.

At Dieppe 1,600 tons of bananas were spoiling, and other banana boats were en route to the port.

Railway workers in Algiers voted to strike tonight for 24 hours in sympathy with strikers in Metropolitan France.

Soviet Airplanes Reported Helping Sinkiang Invasion

NANKING (AP)—The official Central News Agency today said government military sources confirmed reports that Outer Mongolian troops, supported by four Soviet warplanes, had invaded Sinkiang province Thursday.

The agency said the Mongols had penetrated to a depth of more than 200 miles and now were fighting Chinese defence troops 200 miles northeast of Tihau.

The official report followed closely a similar report by semi-official sources.

The Central News Agency reported in a dispatch from Tihau that "bitter fighting" was continuing between native Sinkiang troops and invading forces.

The dispatch, the agency said, reported that warplanes accompanying the Mongolian cavalry and other troops into Sinkiang strafed Chinese troop concentrations and bombed and strafed civilians and towns in the invasion path.

Military sources said it was believed that only a small number of native troops and a few trained Chinese officers comprise the Western Sinkiang garrison. The region has been in a state of continued unrest since Outer Mongolia was granted independence.

PARIS (Reuters)—Death sentence passed by the Court of Versailles on Admiral Jean Labore, Vichy naval commander who ordered the scuttling of the French fleet at Toulon, was Monday commuted to life imprisonment. He was sentenced March 28.

Gold, Hunger Likely Topics For Mr. Truman

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
Victoria Times Correspondent

OTTAWA — A hungry world in which near famine and economic distress threaten to breed political chaos will be one of the top subjects of discussion between President Truman and Prime Minister King here this week.

The price of gold will be another.

In respect to both subjects, important joint decisions are expected to be taken by the two heads of state. They may not be announced immediately. An interval may be necessary to carry out necessary arrangements to put them into effect.

But regardless of whether immediate disclosure is made, it is believed the Prime Minister will communicate to the President this country's readiness to continue food relief measures beyond the end of Unrra, on the principle that food is the most effective currency in the diplomatic world today.

It is anticipated that, in return, Mr. King will secure an understanding from the President of an early upward valuation in the price of gold.

HELP DOLLAR SITUATION

A rise in the price of gold, it is pointed out here, would do something more than merely brighten the horizon of the Canadian gold mining industry, which has been clouded considerably since it recently lost the 10 per cent premium previously paid on United States funds. It would assist materially the difficult dollar position of Canada, by increasing the volume and value alike of the nation's gold exports. And it would also help the dollar position of the United Kingdom, which in recent months has become a substantial holder of gold, secured mainly from South Africa.

Vessel In Flames Off Bermuda Coast

NEW YORK (AP)—The master of the 1,954-ton Swedish ship Lena Brodin early today notified its New York agents that the afterhold and deck of the ship were in flames off the coast of Bermuda and he was forced to abandon ship.

The captain said he was aboard the steamship Matthew J. O'Brien, which was remaining in the vicinity, and that all aboard had been saved.

Truman Attends Homecoming Of His Old Army Unit

This is one of the latest photographs of President Truman, who this afternoon is a guest of Canada in Ottawa. It shows him seated in a box at the 35th Division reunion in Kansas City, Mo. He was reading a program with his Chief of Staff, Admiral William Leahy (right). The President later addressed his former army outfit as a wind-up of three-day reunion. At rear are (left to right) Rear-Admiral James H. Fosskett and Maj.-Gen. Harry M. Vaughan, military aide.

Buying Continues Normal Despite Price Decontrol

Shopping was normal in Victoria today despite the lifting of price control on dairy products yesterday, according to the majority of merchants who were of the opinion there would be little or no changes in prices on the list of goods removed from ration price controls at Ottawa.

Some dealers were of the opinion any increase in dairy products, especially butter would result in a boycott by housewives. Present retail price now is 33 to 35 cents a pound.

"I've had butter on the counter all morning," said one retailer, "yet none of my customers have bought more than usual, and personally I don't think they can afford too."

But the majority of the dealers were of the opinion that the prices would be governed by the demand for butter—a heavy demand, an increase in price. But there was no indication today of this happening.

PEAK SEASON FOR BUTTER

A. C. Lindsay, manager Swift Canadian Co. Ltd. commented that there was plenty of butter in the country as this was the peak season for butter production.

Certain types of cheese were scarce on the market, and because of high price sale of this dairy product was somewhat slow. American cheese was selling at $1-a pound, according to one retailer, and most housewives were only buying it in small quantities because of the price.

Price on jams, jellies, marmalade, evaporated milk were expected to remain the same.

Dealers did not expect an increase in price on chicken and chicken products, also decontrolled. "If they go any higher, people won't buy them," said a dealer. "There is no scarcity of chicken on the market, and therefore no danger of the price going up."

The lifting of controls is expected to have an effect on the price of restaurant meals, but changes will only be made on individual items.

One restaurant owner said his meals would remain the same, but sandwiches would be increased slightly. Others said the prices of steak would go up, but much depended on the wholesale price of meat.

There was no evidence of the prices going up on women's, misses' and girls' dressing gowns, neckwear, collars, aprons and halters, and children's bibs which have been decontrolled.

Many of the items decontrolled are still very scarce on the market. (See story "Dented Family Budgets," Page 2.)

B.C. Names Guild As Locke Successor

C. K. Guild, K.C., will succeed C. H. Locke, K.C., as counsel in British Columbia's case against the application of the Canadian National Railways to increase freight rates, it was announced today by Premier John Hart.

Appointment of Mr. Locke to the Supreme Court of Canada was announced last week.

Mr. Guild is a member of the same legal firm, Locke, Lane, Guild & Sheppard, as Mr. Locke. Mr. Hart said Mr. Guild had been closely associated with Mr. Locke and was familiar with the work that had been done so far, and he will argue the case before the Board of Transport Commissioners next Monday.

Associated with Mr. Guild in the presentation will be C. W. Brazier, who had been assisting Mr. Locke since his appointment as counsel for the government.

Prime Minister Celebrates 20 Years In Office

OTTAWA (CP)—President Truman arrived at 3.30 p.m., EDT today, beginning a three-day "goodwill" visit to this capital, the first such state visit by a United States President in the histories of the two "good neighbors."

Tomorrow, Mr. Truman will address the members of the House of Commons and the Senate in joint assembly.

Accompanied by Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, the President arrived aboard a special train from Washington which pulled to a slow stop at a temporary station erected at the spot where the Canadian National Railway tracks intersect picturesque Island Park Drive, on the city's outskirts.

It was a spot made historic by the arrival here in 1939 by the King and Queen to open the royal visit in this capital.

CHEERED BY THROG

The sun broke through an overcast sky and a roar of spontaneous greeting went up from a closely-packed throng as Mr. Truman stepped down on a red plush carpet to be welcomed by the Governor-General, Prime Minister King and other state dignitaries.

Others in the welcoming party were Viscountess Alexander, Hume Wrong, Canadian Ambassador to the U.S., and Mrs. Wrong; Mrs. Louis St. Laurent, wife of Canada's Minister of External Affairs; Mrs. Ray Atherton, wife of the United States Ambassador to Canada, and Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa and Mrs. Lewis.

Ottawa is the only point where the President will make an official appearance. Apart from the speech, the Canadian program is designed principally to afford Mr. Truman and his family a period of relaxation and good fellowship.

Before leaving Washington the President made known his intention of deferring until after the Canadian trip any decision on whether to veto the income tax reduction bill.

The President's address in Ottawa would provide an opportunity for any new expression on the international situation he might care to make. In any case it seemed likely he would have something to say about the traditional friendship between Canada and the United States and their efforts for world peace and economic stability. Canada, like the United States, is a major producer of grain for needy areas.

POTSDAM IN 1945
Mr. Truman's first trip outside the United States after becoming President, was to Potsdam in 1945 for his first and only "Big Three" conference. He took a vacation in Bermuda in 1946 and last March flew to Mexico City for a series of "good neighbor" trips designed to increase understanding and harmony among the United States and her neighbors to the north and south.

Canada, like the Latin-American republics, is designated to be brought into the hemisphere arms standardization program Mr. Truman has recommended to Congress. The Dominion and the United States already collaborate closely in the defence field through a joint board set up in wartime and continued in peacetime.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King received a big ovation in the Commons this afternoon just prior to the arrival in Ottawa of President Truman, on the occasion of the Canadian leader's completion of 20 years of service as Prime Minister.

The commons opened at 2:45 p.m., instead of 3 p.m., E.D.T., to enable the Prime Minister to attend before journeying to Island Park Drive to welcome the President at 3.30 p.m.

The Prime Minister, meanwhile, spent the early part of the day at Laurier House cleaning up business before the President's arrival.

7,305 DAYS

It was Mr. King's 7,305th day in the Prime Ministerial harness—an even 20 years. Should he continue as government leader until April 10 next year, he will equal the record established by Sir Robert Walpole, the British Prime Minister, who served from April 3, 1721, to Feb. 11, 1742—a total of 20 years, 10 months and nine days, or the longest term in the British Empire.

Mr. King already has broken the records of three previous Canadian and British Prime Ministers—Sir John A. Macdonald, who held the office 18 years, 11 months and 26 days; Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who held it 15 years, two months and 26 days; and William Pitt, who served 18 years, 11 months and three days.

The Prime Minister already is Dean of the House of Commons, having held a seat approximately 30 years since he first was elected in 1908 as Liberal Member for Waterloo North, and, through his service as Minister of Labor in 1909 to 1911, ranks second only to Sir Allen Aylesworth, 93-year-old Toronto senator, in the seniority list of Canadian Privy Councillors.

BECAME LEADER IN 1919

Mr. King, 72, was chosen leader of the Liberal party in Aug. 7, 1919, and has led the party in six general elections. He was Prime Minister from Dec. 29, 1921, to June 28, 1926, returned to office in 1926, and served until 1930.

Meanwhile Bela Bethan, Social Democrat president of the National Council of the People's Court, highest court in Hungary, recently attacked on the grounds its sentences "were too light," has gone on leave "for the time being."

Coins Pour Into Wishing Well

Hundreds of tourists, spurred by sightseeing bus drivers conducting them through Butchart's Gardens Monday, dug deeper than ever into their pockets to make contributions to Lady Luck and the Queen Alexandra Solarium at the wishing well. Bus drivers believe the loss suffered during the week-end when the well was raided by thieves, who took silver coins but left coppers, would be offset by Monday's contributions. Precautions have been taken to guard the pool against possible future thefts.

Hungary's Communist Boss Summons Assembly Meeting

BUDAPEST (AP)—The Hungarian Parliament was summoned today to hear Premier Lajos Dinnyes outline his policies for the first time since the Communist-inspired coupe d'etat last week which ousted him from office.

Rumors spread throughout the country that anti-Communists in the National Assembly would denounce Communist pressure during the day's session.

In the most recent elections in Hungary, Nov. 4, 1945, the Smallholders' Party won more than half the seats in Parliament—222 of 420. They polled 60 per cent of the popular vote. The Communists won 70 seats and 17 per cent of the vote. The other 128 seats were divided among five parties and non-party candidates.

In addition to hearing Dinnyes, who is a left wing member of the Smallholders' Party and former war minister, the Assembly also was slated to choose a new speaker to replace Bela Varga.

Varga, a moderate member of the middle-of-the-road Smallholders, fled after the Communists forced the resignation of Premier Ferenc Nagy, also a Smallholder moderate, and his whereabouts now are unknown.

PURGE EVIDENCED

LONDON (AP)—Dispatches from Budapest suggested today

that the Communist-dominated Hungarian government was widening its purge against dissident elements on several fronts.

The Communist newspaper Szabadsag said the "resistance certificates" of nearly 200 persons, including government and church officials, would be reviewed by a special committee under the prime minister's office.

Among those facing loss of these certificates which indicate that the holders opposed the Germans during the war, were Dezso Gulyok, head of the freedom party whose newspaper recently was banned; Assembly Speaker Bela Varga, a member of the Smallholders Party; and Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic Primate of Hungary.

Others facing possible loss of their lands if the committee should decide they did not work against the Nazis, Szabadsag said, were Lajos Shvoy, Roman Catholic Bishop of Szekesfeharvar; Count Geza Teleki, former minister of education; and Bela Pedanyigulyas, head of the Smallholder Party's political committee.

At the same time, the Hungarian Peoples' Court announced that 43 "intellectuals" including doctors, lawyers and professors, would go on trial late this month on charges of conspiring to overthrow the Hungarian republic.

Price Increases More Than Offset Wage Gains, Labor Leaders Feel

Leaders of unions here affiliated with Canada's two largest national unions today were unanimous that price increases effected since last November, including those announced Monday by Finance Minister Douglas C. Abbott, had put the wage earner in an inferior position despite gains made in wages.

Mr. Abbott Monday in Ottawa announced the decontrol of a considerable range of items, including butter and other dairy products, jams and jellies. His announcement was followed by predictions that butter prices would rise to 60 cents per pound.

"We definitely feel price controls should have stayed in," said George A. Wilkinson, secretary of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, which is affiliated with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. "We favored keeping wage controls, too."

While wage earners would suffer from the recent price increases which would more than offset wage gains, Mr. Wilkinson said he felt those on fixed incomes, such as old-age pensioners, and those unorganized workers in inferior bargaining positions to unionized workers, would suffer most.

Mr. Wilkinson felt, like Robert

Mezger, secretary of the Victoria Labor Council, which is affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor, that Canadian workers today were in poorer positions despite wage increases than during the war when income taxes were so much higher.

"It was a foregone conclusion," said Mr. Mezger, "that as soon as prices were raised, controls would be taken off. This has been the general pattern."

"The cost of living has increased to an extent far greater than the wage increases," he continued.

He said the policy of the Victoria Labor Council on increasing prices was tied up with the political action against British Columbia's new labor code.

This includes the organization of left-wing groups into a political bloc against the government.

Mr. Mezger said the C.C.L. would shortly start an education program against rising living costs, including radio broadcasts, and the distribution of leaflets and pamphlets explaining labor's position.

He said the Victoria Labor Council would support any moves by housewives against rising prices.

On the other hand, Mr. Wilkinson thought buyers' strikes were comparatively ineffective means of combating rising prices. He believed the only hope was for excessive production, which would result in bringing down prices.

Acting Principal For Presbyterian College, Montreal

CALGARY (CP) — The 73rd General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada today considered a recommendation that public relations responsibility be assigned to two composite committees, one to be known as the "conference of secretaries" and the other "interchurch relations."

The Assembly previously had discussed the question of publicity and public relations, but had postponed consideration until today on the recommendation regarding the two committees.

At the close of Monday's session, the appointment of a principal of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, was referred back to the college board and an acting principal will be put in the post for the coming year.

Rev. Robert Lennox, professor of Old Testament at the college, was nominated by the board in a report by James Mitchell, Montreal elder. However, objection was made that the nomination was not unanimous and Rev. G. E. Bingham of Howick, Que., said four commissioners, members of the board, had recorded dissent.

Dr. T. Wardlaw Taylor, senior clerk of the Assembly, ruled other nominations could be considered and Rev. Henry Cousens of Brockville, Ont., proposed the name of Rev. John Weir Foote, holder of the Victoria Cross.

It was pointed out that if the board's nomination was rejected the whole matter would come back to it for consideration. When the vote was taken Maj. Foote received strong support and the entire nomination was returned to the board.

Home missions were discussed at Monday evening's session.

The matter of erecting a student residence on the campus of the University of British Columbia was referred to a special committee.

It was agreed that representation should be made to federal, provincial and municipal authorities urging the promotion of a building program, not merely to meet the present housing shortage but to provide adequate accommodation for newcomers to Canada.

Dr. Robert Johnston of Ottawa, in presenting the work of the board of missions, reported that increase of stipends to missionaries and ministers in augmented charges to $1,800 last year had cost the board $125,000.

Senators Ask Probe On Reports U.S. Redeems Soviet-Made Marks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Republican senators called today for a full-scale investigation into reports the United States has redeemed millions of dollars' worth of German occupation money printed by Russian authorities.

The three, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, Homer Ferguson of Michigan and William Knowland of California, told a reporter in separate interviews they understood the plates to print the German marks were given to the Russians by U.S. officials.

Among other uses for the occupation money was to pay Allied troops.

Earlier reports have said the Russian soldiers, drawing large amounts of back pay, paid fabulous black market prices to U.S. soldiers for such items as wrist watches and trinkets.

The Americans, in turn, converted the occupation marks into dollars.

The trade became so brisk U.S. authorities resorted to several methods for discouraging the marks-to-dollar conversion. Finally a scrip system was devised to replace the occupation currency.

A U.S. War Department statement April 27, prompted by reports the loss to the treasury on these black market dealings might exceed $500,000,000, acknowledged the army had accumulated a surplus of German currency.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, said: "My information is that between $400,000,000 and $900,000,000 worth of this money has been, or is being redeemed with U.S. dollars."

"I have been told that this redemption is being carried as a hidden deficit and some Senate committee certainly must look into this."

Jasper Park Lodge is in for one of its greatest seasons, according to R. Somerville, general manager of C.N.R. hotels.

Half Of Medals Won By Canadians Still Undistributed

OTTAWA — "Medals are coming," Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence, said today in answer to recent queries from ex-servicemen as to when they might expect awards won during the recent war.

"It isn't generally appreciated," the minister continued, "that all the decorations for bravery and distinguished service are made in the United Kingdom, where there is a shortage of highly skilled labor."

Recent investigations by the governor-general have given rise to the inquiries, Mr. Claxton spoke of. All these are answered and everything possible is being done at Ottawa to have the British authorities hurry the work along. Of more than 6,200 awards to R.C.A.F. personnel during the war, however, more than half are still to come and deliveries for the army and navy are in proportion.

The minister pointed out that the Royal Canadian Mint at Ottawa is engaged in making the campaign stars and medals, including the 1939-45 Star, the France-Germany Star, the Africa Star, etc., as well as the Defence Medal, War Medal and Canadian Volunteer Service Medal. These are in process of manufacture, he said, but distribution will be commenced only when sufficient quantities will be available.

"Just as soon as decorations are received from the other side," Mr. Claxton added, "the recipients are informed of the arrangements being made for investment. These will be carried out in different parts of the country from time to time as the decorations are received."

Dented Family Budgets, New Wage Demands May Follow Decontrol

By Canadian Press

Assailed by many housewives, who feared further dents in the family budget and by some labor leaders who forecast new wage demands might be in the offing, Canada's newest decontrol measures were hailed generally today by businessmen affected.

Most dealers, a Canadian Press survey showed, agreed with Finance Minister Abbott, who said Monday, in announcing lifting of rationing and price control on butter, evaporated milk and preserves, that it could be done without "danger of significant price increases." Only in butter and restaurant meal prices were exceptions noted.

Price ceilings were removed from restaurant meals as well as from dairy products of all kinds, poultry and poultry products, canned soups and salt, hardwood lumber, lead, copper and zinc.

A Montreal restaurant owner forecast an over-all boost of 15 per cent on menu prices.

Most dairy products dealers agreed with Mr. Abbott that price stability was insured because these products were at their seasonal production peaks, Montreal and Toronto wholesalers saw no reason for any noticeable change.

Similar comment from eastern Canadian businessmen was heard in regard to shoes, lumber, preserves and textiles.

Housewives' reaction was immediate, many hustling off to stores to buy up supplies before feared price increases.

Most housewives agreed that articles which had been in short supply will probably be on the market again.

Support for the government's action came from Mrs. Ryland New of Toronto, national president of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, who said "decontrol has been very orderly. I think the way it has been handled has shown the government would not take them off until the proper time arrived."

Toronto labor leaders opposed the move, predicting new wage demands might become necessary if the decontrol brought an increase in the cost of living.

Cowboys At Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Cowboys "Sleepy" Frost and "Swede" Nilsson, who left Vancouver a year ago on horseback, carrying two bottles of Pacific Ocean water which they planned to empty into the Atlantic, today had reached the Port Arthur area.

Swede still was astride the black bronco on which he started the 4,000-mile trip, but his companion had traded mounts at Medicine Hat, Alta.

After a rest they expect to push on to Toronto by way of Hearst.

$750,000 Loss In Cannery Fire

WRANGELL, Alaska (AP) — Fire Monday night destroyed the Farwest Cannery here at a loss estimated at nearly $750,000.

Almost every man in town turned volunteer to battle the flames and the steamship Grommet Reefer moved from the nearby mill dock to the scene to aid in saving the cannery dock.

Some trap cannery equipment, the bunkhouse and messhall also were saved by the large volunteer crew.

The blaze was brought under control within an hour, but was still burning several hours later. Its origin was undetermined.

The cannery was owned by Fred Buhrman of Anacortes, Wash. and A. R. Brueger, Wrangell.

Greets U.S. Fliers

MARHAM, Norfolk, Eng. (AP)—A nine-plane squadron of United States B29s flew here Monday from Germany and was greeted by Marshal of the R.A.F. Baron Tedder as "fellow members of the Allied team." Their crews will be guests of the King Thursday at the trooping of the colors, marking official celebration of his birthday.

It was announced that an R.A.F. squadron of 16 Lincoln bombers would return the visit by flying to various air fields in the U.S. and participating in a New York demonstration Aug. 1.

U.S. Party Scales Mount McKinley; Instruments Lost

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A telegram from Alaska told of the successful scaling of 20,300-foot Mt. McKinley, north America's highest peak—the fourth successful venture on that mountain in history.

Mrs. Fred Hackett, Portland, said she received the telegram Monday from her son, Lieut. William D. Hackett, a member of the Bradford Washburn climbing party.

She said the group camped near the peak last Friday and scaled the last pinnacle Saturday. Hackett represented the U.S. army ground forces on the expedition of the New England Museum of Natural History, led by Washburn.

Hackett reported valuable equipment to be used for measuring cosmic radiation was lost when a 100-mile gale struck about June 1. The party at the time was living in igloos on the mountain slopes.

Washburn was accompanied by his 32-year-old wife, the former Barbara Polk of Boston, herself a veteran of three trips into Alaska. It was not known here whether Mrs. Washburn made the trip to the peak.

Mount McKinley, where the temperature averages around 50 below zero, first was scaled in 1913 by a party of Alaskan civilians and again in 1932 by a party under Alfred Lindley of Minneapolis. In July, 1942, a Canadian-U.S. army team made camp at the 18,000-foot level to conduct cold-weather tests and Washburn, then a civilian adviser to the American army, was one of a group who spent about an hour at the peak.

Most fresh vegetables consist of about 90 per cent water.

Witnesses said the plane raked three other roofs before striking this one. Those killed were all in the plane. They were identified as William G. Check, 24, Corliss, Pa.; his wife, 23, and Albert M. Kabanek, Homestead, Pa.

London Daily Express Lauds Premier King

LONDON (CP)—Canada has advanced "with a giant's stride to new strength and consequence" in the world in 20 years under the leadership of Prime Minister King, the London Daily Express said Monday in an editorial tribute to the Canadian Premier.

The newspaper, Conservative, said the Prime Minister "may lack flamboyance," but "his are rather the gifts of statesmanship, wise counsel, steadiness of purpose and largeness of vision."

"In Britain especially, remembering the immense gifts of Canada during the war, it was realized that Mackenzie King has breadth of outlook, a generosity of spirit, to match the bounding wealth of his country."

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Sun in an Ottawa dispatch Monday said a bill to legalize eight flat races a day instead of seven with a hurdle or steeplechase race has passed the Senate and is headed for its home stretch in Commons.

Operators of Hastings and Lansdowne tracks here said adoption would undoubtedly lead to eight races a day at the summer meets in Vancouver.

Trade Discussion Beyond Body's Powers

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—R. B. Job, a member of Newfoundland's National Convention which will discuss terms of federal union with Canada in the near future, has corrected a report carried by the Canadian Press May 26 in which he was said to be sponsor of a motion seeking possible union with the United States.

The motion which Mr. Job presented to the convention proposed sending a delegation to Washington to discuss trade matters. Although it was approved by the convention, the commission government ruled that such discussion was outside the convention's terms of reference.

The convention, discussing the Island's political future, adjourned May 27 and is expected to be called into session again after the delegation returns from the Dominion capital.

U.S. To Reopen Japan For Private Trading Aug. 15

WASHINGTON (AP)—The international trade door to Japan will be reopened to private business on a limited scale Aug. 15, the State and War Departments announced Monday.

This announcement of resumption of international trade with Japan, which on the eve of the Second World War had an import-export value listed at about $1,300,000,000, followed the return of the United States trade mission from conferences with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his Allied headquarters staff in Tokyo.

The mission reported the first step toward normal trade relations with the Japanese would be accommodations in Japan for 400 private trade representatives in the main industrial and commercial areas.

TO DECIDE DIVISION

These representatives will be allocated among the Allied powers on a percentage basis by the Inter-Allied Trade Board of the Far Eastern Commission in Washington. MacArthur's headquarters reserved the right to pass upon each representative.

While Japan remains in the status of an enemy country, controls will be maintained over commercial arrangements by Allied headquarters agencies, but many of these will be relinquished at the earliest possible date.

Prior to the expected influx of representatives of shoe concerns, toy merchants, silk houses, producers of raw cotton, garment manufacturers, medical establishments from the United States, Britain, Latin America, Europe and Asia, international business services, such as banking, communications and insurance will be permitted immediate entry.

One difficulty in re-establishing international trade with Japan will be determining the value of the postwar yen, the Japanese currency.

Franco Decorates Argentine 1st Lady

MADRID (AP)—Senora Juan Peron, attractive wife of the Argentine President, raised her arm today in the Falange salute after Generalissimo Francisco Franco had decorated her with the Cross of Isabel the-Catholic.

The 32-year-old former actress, whose friends call her the South American Mrs. Roosevelt and whose critics declare her a meddler, spoke briefly to a huge crowd outside the National Palace.

She compared what she called the "true distributive democracy" of Spain and Argentina to the "false, deceptive democracy" of other countries which she did not name.

Franco said Peron had sent to Spain "The Heart of Argentina."

Hold-up Attempt Fails

DETROIT (CP)—Thomas Wilson looked down the business end of an 1860 model Colt frontier pistol, grabbed the weapon and crashed it down on the head of a man confronting him. Police said Steve Lassic, 20, was docile when they arrived. He faces a charge of attempted armed robbery.

Lives To Tell

Seldom does the pilot of a crashed airliner live to tell what happened, but Capt. Benton R. ("Lucky") Baldwin is an exception. He escaped with burns from the DC-4 that crashed at LaGuardia Field, New York City, killing 42 people, and is expected to testify at the investigation into the cause of the disaster.

Moose Visit Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Clear-cut hoof marks in an east-end garden indicated today that a bull moose and his mate paid this city a week-end visit. Edison MacQuarrie of the Algoma Game, Fish and Forest Association said there wasn't the slightest doubt the tracks were those of moose.

230,000 Chinese Build Yellow River Dikes

PEIPING (AP)—A ragtail army of 230,000 Chinese men, women and children is piling earth, stones and stalks on the great Yellow River dikes in a race to beat July floods, an American who returned from the river area said here Monday.

Chinese armies nine years ago blew up an upstream dike and sent the mighty stream south-eastward to the sea across the path of invading Japanese. This year the river was diverted to its old course, destroying the holdings of peasants who had settled in the old bed.

The American said that until two weeks ago, the Chinese carried out repair work on 26 major weak points in daylight. Then, he declared, Nationalist fighter planes began to spray the workers with machine-gun fire, forcing them to carry on under cover of darkness.

The surface of the sun that is visible on earth consists of clouds of incandescent metallic vapor.

A WELCOME NEIGHBOR

THE CURRENT VISIT TO CANADA OF

President Truman is in a little different category from the many holiday and conference trips which the late President Roosevelt made to this country. It is the first official state visit to be made to our national capital by a President of the United States. But although it will be clothed in much of the dignity and ceremony which must attend such functions, there will be lacking none of the warmth and sincerity which marked our frequent welcomes to Mr. Truman's predecessor.

There are few, if any, contiguous countries in the world where the Chief of State of one can cross into the other and receive an accolade which matches in every way the reception which he receives at home. Yet such is the nature of our invisible boundary that this event is possible in North America. Similar democratic ideals, similar speech, and a similar way of life have made this sociable interchange a recognized fact throughout the world—the phenomenon of an international frontier across which is felt no covetousness, no militaristic rivalry, no distrust. So casual and natural a fact has our "3,000 miles without a fort" become, that the mention of it in these days raises little more than the smile that usually accompanies a platitude.

There is another factor, too, in this free exchange between nations, in that Mr. Truman in a sense is only one of thousands of United States citizens who will cross into Canada today—one of millions who will visit our country this summer. No complicated documents and passports, no trip-tyques and carnets hamper the passage of our common border. No political or religious scrutiny meets the visitor. It is a development of the western democracies which would be little understood in central Europe; an established fact which has exemplary value to the world in these troublous times beyond computation.

DESPICABLE

IT IS DIFFICULT TO FIND WORDS TO describe the meanness of the person or persons who robbed Butchart's Gardens "Wishing Well" of coins destined to assist children at the Queen Alexandra Solarium. The crime is so despicable, the cause deprived of these funds so worthy, that the public generally adds anger to the contempt evoked by such action.

It is not so much the amount involved—although it was probably substantial—but the nature of the theft which stirs this community. Here were coins, tossed happily into the water as votive offerings for the granting of wishes, and collected later to assist little tots whose start in life has been marred by physical ailments. Whoever has taken them illegally has, by the action, brought to the metal some characteristics of those thirty pieces of silver. Here, too, was a trust betrayed.

WHOM TO BELIEVE?

A NEW LIGHT ON THE FAILURE TO arrive at a mutually-satisfactory peace treaty for Austria at the recent Moscow conference may have been shed by the reported statement of a leading Austrian Communist that the Soviet will never put pen to a treaty with Austria while that country supports its present government under a Socialist president. This spokesman asserts that he got his information direct from the Kremlin.

There are a number of considerations involved in the Russian refusal, the unofficial quotation of which has certainly been confirmed by official actions. The present Austrian government has strongly opposed the demands of Soviet-backed Yugoslavia for reparations which would include the cession of a part of Carinthia and Styria to the Mediterranean police state. This opposition has earned the strong disapproval of the Russian planning staff. There is another factor, however, which may carry even more weight. Once a peace treaty with Austria has been signed, the Allied occupation forces in the country will be withdrawn, which means that the arrangement whereby the Soviet is permitted to keep troops in Hungary as a connecting link with her Austrian occupation forces would no longer hold. The presence of troops must have been an important item in last week's coup whereby the Communists took over the Hungarian administration, although there is no indication that they were called into direct action.

The disclosure of Moscow sentiment regarding Soviet inability to get along with the non-Communist Austrian government again raises the question—which was asked in these columns at the time—as to just how much credence should be given Generalissimo Stalin's recent statement to Mr. Harold Stassen that he saw nothing to prevent the most complete co-operation between his Communist regime and the other non-Communist governments of the world. It would seem again, unfortunately, that Kremlin words and Kremlin intentions have demonstrated a considerable divergence.

ACTIONS BEHIND THE WORDS

THERE IS CHEERING NEWS IN THE progress report that has come from the trade negotiators at Geneva, where representatives of nearly a score of nations are discussing tariff agreements with each other and preparing the draft charter of the International Trade Organization, which is to be formed under United Nations sponsorship next spring. Already two pairs of nations are about to conclude agreements, and each of the represented countries is carrying on talks with as many as a dozen others with a view to composing tariff difficulties and clearing the decks for a freer and more prosperous era of international trade.

Canada is conducting negotiations with 11 other countries, and in the words of Hon. L. Dana Wilgress, the able head of the delegation, "we are making slow but steady progress." Against the more sombre background of the international political manoeuvrings which at present claim chief attention in the headlines of the world's press, these subsidiary United Nations groups—ITO, UNESCO, ILO, IRO, the International Bank and others—are slowly and more or less unobtrusively laying the foundations for the future world of peace and co-operation which we hope to enjoy.

The vetoes, walk-outs and fireworks which have marked the meetings of the main bodies—the United Nations Assembly and the Security Council—tend to obscure the real progress that gradually is being achieved in the smaller groups. The work of these dependent organizations is no less important than that of the parent body, and in the opinion of many observers may prove to be even more instrumental in achieving the co-ordination of international efforts for peace. In the turmoil and argument of the larger gatherings we are apt to overlook the fact that a number of groups composed of various nations already are functioning and laying the groundwork for future harmonious relations.

The International Court of Justice, the Food and Agricultural Organization, the International Refugee Organization, the Economic and Social Council and other groups are producing in reality what in the higher levels is still only a theory—the peaceful, constructive co-operation of the nations of the world for their mutual benefit.

SENORA PERON SPEAKS

STUDENTS OF THE BAFILING INTERNATIONAL scene will wonder just why the wife of Argentina's dictator was so enthusiastically fêted in Madrid yesterday. We are told that when Senora Peron appeared before a huge crowd outside the national palace in the Spanish capital she raised her arm in the Falange salute—following her decoration by Generalissimo Francisco Franco with the Cross of Isabella the Catholic. Nor was this all. In the spirit of all dictators, which evidently goes for the wives of dictators, she compared for the benefit of the multitude assembled to greet her what she called the "true distributive democracy" of Spain and Argentina to the "blase, deceptive democracy of other countries." She mentioned none of the latter specifically by name.

The antecedents of this 32-year-old former actress are of no concern to Canadians. But when the world is told that she is quite openly alluded to by some in her own country as the Mrs. Roosevelt of South America it will not be surprising if the widow of the great statesman who was the author of the "good neighbor policy" squirms with resentment. Can anyone imagine her stooping to the technique of the balcony harangue? Not likely. On the other hand, Senora Peron, in the light of other notable feminine associations with dictators, probably answers best to the term of meddler—by which she is known by a substantial section of the people of the Argentine republic whose background is basically democratic.

At a time when the governments of the United States and Argentina are endeavoring to bring their relationships into more harmonious focus with the rest of the peace-loving nations of the Western Hemisphere in defence of further invasions of continental European concepts of government, it is unfortunate that President Juan Domingo Peron should permit his wife to speak so much out of turn in the last remaining stronghold of old-world Fascism.

A MAN, NOT A ROBOT

THE WORDS OF VERY REV. JEAN Charles Laframboise, rector of the University of Ottawa, to that institution's convocation day assembly, will be noted by thinking people of all shades of thought. This educational leader in the Dominion's capital has drawn attention to the fact that despite the marvels of science, man should not forget his position as a spiritual entity, that he should remain the master of his machines, not their servant.

It is well that this point should be emphasized. Too great an inclination exists to relegate individual humanity to the role of inanimate cogs in a machine. If he is to avoid destruction by the instruments he has created, man must remember the "art and science of personal guidance, of self-respect, the superiority of spirit over matter, of intellect over senses." As science progresses, lack of judgment, failure to appreciate responsibilities and higher aspirations, can make him the victim, not the beneficiary, of his own ingenuity. He, too, must advance, or he becomes little more than a modified robot. Only as he asserts his character as a man in the loftier sense can he climb closer to those ideals which all of good will seek to achieve.

European Federation

By JULIEN BENDA, French philosopher, essayist, and novelist.

ALL OF US ARE FAMILIAR with the query which dates back more than a century but which has been much in the news during recent months: "Why could there not be a United States of Europe as there is in America?" But such a comparison is wholly superficial. The creation of a European federation would entail difficulties that America has never known.

FIRST OF ALL, every nation of Europe is an individual entity, with its own language, history and culture. Its history is almost always made up for the most part of wars with the others. Its culture is not only distinct from that of a neighbour, but is often opposed to it and inclined to emphasize that opposition in order to bring out its own individuality. Those are things that every European nation will have to forget, or at least tone down, if any sincere federation is to be formed. Now that is a test that Texas or Virginia, for example, did not have to undergo, for the simple reason that they have no specific history or culture, at least none glorious enough that they felt called upon to make a show of it against all comers. But there is more than that.

WHEN A MAN OVER THERE thinks of himself not as a citizen of Iowa or Vermont but as a citizen of the United States of America, he separates himself from a negligible historical reality in order to integrate himself with one which is considerable and recognized throughout the world. That is true even of the Southerners. Although they have not completely forgotten their defeat in the Civil War, although apparently inclined to consider themselves superior to the Northerners, they sublimate this individuality in their pride in belonging to one of the greatest nations in the world. But, on our continent, the very opposite would happen. From the point of view of satisfying his self-esteem, a Frenchman, an Englishman, an Italian, or a German, who instead of thinking of himself as such, tried to think of himself as a European, would be dropping the substance for the shadow; for Europe, as far as unity is concerned, is not an historical entity, has never been one or been regarded as one. This requires an explanation.

I HAVE OFTEN BEEN surprised that history professors—I mean those who believe in a European federation and want to contribute to it through their teaching—do not give more attention to the history of Europe. To which they reply: a history of Europe has never been written; texts bearing that title merely recount the history of the different parts of Europe, treated separately, each in turn; what we need is a book that would endeavour to show what the parts have had in common despite their diversity, what characteristically European things there have been in the history of the world; but such a book does not exist.

IN TRUTH IT CANNOT EXIST. Because Europe never had any unity, at least political unity, never had any tendency in that direction. The events which might have achieved such a unity—the Crusades, the Norse incursions, the panic aroused from the Ukraine to the Ile-de-France by the Mongolian invasion of the 13th century, the onslaught of the Turks in the 15th—produced nothing in the way of unity. Some of them, the fourth crusade for example, even did much to divide the Europeans. From a political point of view, the attitude of Europe in history has been exclusively nationalist. It has consisted in a double trend which was, on the one hand, to form nations, and on the other, to make them independent of one another. I certainly hope that such attitudes, clothed in our particular culture, are on the way out today (and yet how many people continue to feel superior to all the others, to think they can learn from no one). But if those attitudes are disappearing, it is not in favor of a European culture, for which the average man in every country has no feeling.

THEN, YOU WILL SAY, if Europe is neither an historic nor a cultural reality for the Europeans of today, how can you see them forming a federation?

Because, I would answer, they will find it in their political interest to do so; some will say economic interest, which is basically the same thing. The European federation will not be a real unity like the American or the Swiss. It will be, in the beginning at least, only an administrative unity, as were the Roman Empire, the Empire of Charlemagne, the Holy Roman Empire and the Austro-Hungarian Empire. And no doubt such a union will do much to prevent wars among its members. It remains to be seen whether it may not create a continental nationalism which would be one more factor, worse than those to which it would put an end, in fostering human slaughter. My answer is that the European federation will be like the atomic bomb; it will bring men an improvement in their lot, or else it will bring them more tears than ever, depending upon their own morality.

French Still Look To Canada

NORA BELOFF in London Calling

HOW DO the French feel about Canada? Broadly speaking, I should say there is no other single country which arouses such warmth of feeling, or such lively interest, among the ordinary men and women of France. I say "ordinary" because it is not true of certain political or business sections of the population which have special political or economic ties with some particular foreign country. Nor am I suggesting, of course, that there exists—or, indeed, could exist—an exclusive Franco-Canadian Axis. But there is a number of very special links which, I think, account for the degree of spontaneous sympathy which all Canadians tell me they receive the moment they set foot on French soil. It is these special links which I think it is worth while stopping for a moment to analyze.

REASONS FOR GRATITUDE On the positive side, the French have, of course, many reasons for gratitude to Canada—gratitude for her immense war effort, for Canadian postwar material aid to France (which, according to figures published in Paris newspapers, compared favorably per head of the population even with the very generous United States assistance). France has also to thank Canada for a $250,000,000 loan.

On the negative side, there are no apples of discord between the two countries, no imperial rubs, no rivalry for oil in the Middle East, nor for authority in the Far East. Above all, there is no suspicion that Canada is secretly trying to rebuild a strong Germany to plague either the Communists in the East or the anti-Communists in the West. The main causes of suspicion and fear which subsist between wide sections of French opinion and each of the great powers do not exist in the case of Canada.

LETTER RATE

General George Vanier, first fully-fledged ambassador whom Canada has ever appointed in France, and his staff, work on a basis of good will which may well be the envy of many other diplomats in the French capital. This good will has its roots, not in the existing political or economic situation, but far back in the past, for it is closely allied to the deep feeling of kinship in France towards the biggest French-speaking community outside the country. It takes the form of a curious sort of passive irredentism, a belated and rather sad recognition that Canada no longer forms part of the French Empire. It is a curious fact that letters to Canada are still charged the same rates as letters to the French colonies, and that an air-mail letter to Canada from Paris costs half the price of the same letter to the United States.

OWN IMAGE

This almost possessive kind of affection was reflected recently in an article by a distinguished French academician, Monsieur Maurice Genevoix. "As a Frenchman," wrote M. Genevoix, "I found on the banks of the St. Lawrence an image of my own country, a young, frank image which retained the moulding of its first stamp, and restored my confidence in the vitality and substance of our own people. Painful and humiliating though the date 1763 may be," M. Genevoix went on, "we cannot help realizing that a French heart beats in French-Canadian breasts."

I must admit that, to an English reader, it seemed curious that an historical event of almost 200 years ago should still provoke "pain and humiliation"; but, as I looked further, I found this sentiment, while not, of course, universal, was quite common in the attitude of many Frenchmen towards Canada today.

WOULD EMIGRATE

In practical terms, this pro-Canadian sentiment I have been describing is translated into an astonishingly widespread desire of young French men and women to go to Canada, and stay there. There is no doubt at all, friends at the Canadian embassy in Paris have told me, that, if the Canadian immigration rules were relaxed, and if France could afford to spare young arms urgently needed for her own reconstructions, tens, if not hundreds of thousands of Frenchmen would sail tomorrow, anxious to integrate themselves into Canadian society.

RELIEF FOR EARS

New York Times

News that a "silent" airplane has been developed certainly will be welcomed by the millions of Americans who live near airports and whose ears have been increasingly assailed in recent years by the roar of the increasing number of planes passing overhead.

It takes months and years, generally, for developments to progress from experimental plane to general production. For the sake of all our eardrums it is to be hoped the silent treatment will be more quickly applied to the airplane.

Letters To The Editor

COUNCIL AND ARENA

We enclose a copy of a letter which we have forwarded to the Mayor and City Council. This letter expresses the feelings of this club regarding the election of certain of the members of the Civic Arena Commission, and it is hoped that it can be brought before the public through publication in your paper.

D. S. TUCK, Secretary, Kinsmen Club of Victoria.

His Worship, Mayor Percy E. George, and the Members of the City Council, City Hall, Victoria, B.C.

This club wishes to express its profound regret that the City Council has seen fit to elect Messrs. Baxter, Olson and Pendray to the Civic Arena Commission.

In so far as Mr. Baxter's election is concerned, it is our opinion that the spirit of the by-law has been violated in view of the fact that Mr. Baxter is in effect an employee of the City Council. A by-law which specifically precludes the election of an alderman to the commission must surely infer that the members of the commission be divorced entirely from the influence of the City Council.

Mr. Pendray and Mr. Olson have indicated that they are opposed to the principle of public ownership of the arena. For this reason alone, we feel that these men, however able they may be, should not have been elected to a board which purports to operate in the public interest a civically owned arena.

Please understand that we harbor no objection to these three gentlemen, either as to their ability or character. We do feel most emphatically, however, that for the reasons stated, the City Council should not have seen fit to elect them to the commission. We feel that the commission would better serve the interests of the citizens of this city were it to include representatives of those organizations which favored the principle of public ownership, and which spared no effort in furthering the raising of funds for the construction of the arena.

The Kinsmen Club of Victoria fails to see how the City Council, in view of its recent actions, can expect to retain the support of this or similar organizations when the council calls on them from time to time to perform various services in the public interest.

D. S. TUCK, Secretary, Kinsmen Club of Victoria.

"BLESSINGS"

What a wonderful blessing it is to have something to "kick" about! Many of us would be quite unhappy if we didn't have complaints to make.

If it isn't the weather, it's something else. Even newspapers come in for a fair share of "kicks." Along with the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker.

All in all, how fortunate we are to be free to register our exceptions in the way we do. While Burns has written "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." One could add: "Democracy is a jewelled crown in which complaints may have their faces lifted and appear as blessings."

THE LOOT

The Times of London
We rejoice when we read of criminals being brought to book; but somehow or other their successes seem to occupy more space, to achieve more prominence, than the less arresting accounts of their failures and of the legal proceedings which ensue. As we read, day after day, of the disappearance of lorry-loads of cigarettes, chests full of family silver, huge hauls of furs, coats, furniture, four-seaters, fowling-pieces, a faintly Coue-ish note creeps into our dutiful reiteration of the maxim that crime does not pay. Subconsciously we long to hear of some fiasco, some episode in which the criminal was not merely balked, deterred, or scared away but was fairly and squarely scored off. This rare though badly-needed consolation was afforded some time ago. A young lady emerged from a bank carrying a cloth bag. A car drew up beside her, the bag was snatched from her hand, the car sprang forward and was lost to sight. But the underworld's gains, though undoubtedly ill-gotten were considerable, and the crime wave appears for once in the humble and utilitarian guise of a labor-saving device; for the bag contained three dead kittens, which the lady was even then on her way to get rid of.

New Dresses

U.K. Information Office
Bell-like skirts supported by stiffened canvas petticoats, off-the-shoulder necklines and even smaller waists are features of summer fashions that are coming into production in Britain's dress industry. Vivacity of design and suppleness of line and detail characterise the prototypes of summer clothes now being shown in London. Pale pink marcella—a fine cotton—brings sophistication to the summer dress in one model. Another has been made in a navy and white checked duster cotton model completed by a fitted corset waist and a full round the shoulders. White sharkskin is being used for tailored dresses highlighted by belts of bright-colored webbing, and white marcella is used for a tailored beach suit with knee-length shorts (gentlemanly turn-ups are a feature of these) and a bare midriff "monkey" jacket with sleeves and corset front cut in one.

Rings Exchanged
In Nuptial Rites

Saturday at 8.30, Miss Margaret Adele Howard was escorted down the aisle of Fairfield United Church by her father to exchange wedding rings with Stuart Nelson Nicholson, son of Mrs. Nicholson, Bridgeford, Sask., and the late E. J. Nicholson. Nuptial service was read by Rev. William Allan. Illusion net rippled from a seed pearl tiara, over the bridal gown, slightly en train, with sweet-heart necklace enriched with white lace and styled with long-fitted bodice.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Howard, 1145 Woodstock Avenue, chose an arrangement of gardenias and pink rosebuds to top her satin-covered Bible, and as her only jewelry wore a pearl necklace with matching earrings.

A posy of sweet peas and rosebuds carried out the all-pink motif of Mrs. Kaye Nicholson, sister-in-law of the groom, who wore an off-the-shoulder gown of taffeta, elbow-length gloves and ruffled headress caught at the temples with rosebuds.

Ronald Howard, brother of the bride, was best man. Graham Howard, also brother of the

V.O.N. Board Hears Report On National Meeting

Miss Esther Robertson, western supervisor, was special guest at the Victorian Order of Nurses board meeting and gave an interesting account of the annual meeting of the national board at Ottawa recently. Mrs. Harold Bate was in the chair.

Three hundred delegates were present at the Ottawa meeting, one session of which was held at Rideau Hall. Out of the 103 branches throughout Canada, 89 were personally represented. The highlight of the session was the presentation of a platinum and diamond V.O.N. medal to Miss Elizabeth Smellie, O.B.E., upon her retirement as national superintendent of the order. Leonard Brockington gave an eloquent and fitting tribute to Miss Smellie on this occasion, Miss Robertson stated.

Matters discussed in Ottawa included relationship between the board of management and the nursing staff; the problem of meeting increasing demands upon limited branch budgets, a point which was raised from British Columbia, and salary schedules under changing conditions, when it was decided that an effort would be made to keep in line with each provincial scale of salaries. Special mention was made of donation towards the scholarship fund made by the Victoria branch, and it was decided that the bequest would be awarded according to the wishes of the Victoria board.

G. E. G. Whitaker gave a report from the special finance committee formed at the last Victoria branch meeting. It was found necessary to have improved transportation for better utilization of nurse power; also that nurses' salaries would be raised July 1, in order to conform with those being paid other graduate nurses with public health training.

A letter from Denis Hagar of the Victoria Community Chest was read and discussed, and it was decided to hold a special meeting of the V.O.N. board to arrange for 50 canvassers and publicity details for the fall campaign.

Miss M. Baird, Victoria supervisor, reported visits made by the nurses totaled 1,402 during May. These included 635 to medical and surgical cases, 398 to mothers with new babies, 24 to expectant mothers, 174 to cancer and chronic patients, 24 general nursing visits and 147 for health supervision. There were 220 new cases attended.

Woman Purser 'Gets Seasick'

MISS GUADALUPE BARREIRO

With bright flashing smile, raven hair coiled into a smartly styled hairdress Miss Guadalupe Barreiro competently carries out the duties of purser, aboard the 10,000 ton freighter, M.S. Conuco.

"This is my first sea voyage, and I was terribly seasick the first 10 days," the petite officer chuckles, "but I'm used to it now."

The first Philippine woman to hold the position of purser, this competent young miss with a delightful accent is well-qualified for the job.

She is a graduate of University of Santo Tomas which, she says with a proud smile, was founded in Manila in 1611. The clever young lady majored in commerce, and before the war was a teacher at the University in Manila, her courses being algebra, economics and her national language, Tagalog.

But the urge to travel, to see far distant lands, to gain knowledge of other peoples, of whom she had read much, grew within Miss Barreiro.

As the first step in fulfilling that desire, the courageous young woman took a position as secretary to the president of Far Eastern Air Transport, for 14 months. Although her job did not require travel, she never missed an opportunity to go along on any maiden trips of the various aircraft, and says with a mischievous smile, "although I may get sea sick, I have never been the least bit air sick."

But even the prospect of occasional airplane trips did not satisfy Miss Barreiro, and when "Mr. Opportunity" knocked, she took "him" up on the chance for world-wide travel, her dream fulfilled.

The fact that she is the only woman aboard the freighter, does not bother her. "The crew, they are good to me," she states.

She has no set hours, but takes care of her work as it "pops up." Her duties, mostly clerical, consist of filling out customs forms and reports for main office. For this, she wears a simple business suit with tailored blouses.

Last Sunday, sight-seeing was the main interest of the young officer, and she was greatly impressed by the scenic beauty of the city. Then followed visits to Victoria restaurants in search of "real Chinese food."

Much to Miss Barreiro's disappointment, all shops were closed Sunday, but undaunted, she set out early Monday morning for a tour of the stores, and like any other woman, succumbed to the charms of gay blouses and skirts, arriving back at the ship loaded with parcels.

The next few days will be spent in Vancouver and then the young miss will be off on a journey she has long looked forward to, the destination being United Kingdom.

"Traveling has always held a thrill for me," she says, with dark eyes flashing, "and I know I will never tire of it."

Discuss Plans For Citizenship Celebration June 29

Discussion of plans for the Citizenship Celebration Ceremony on June 29 at 2:15 at Beacon Hill Park to honor young people coming of age this year and who will therefore be eligible to take their proper place as citizens, was held at the meeting of Victoria Local Council of Women, Monday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A.

Miss Ellen Hart, convenor of citizenship for the council, is assisting chairman of the Citizenship Celebration committee. Mrs. A. C. Ross announced that invitations are being extended to Chinese and East Indians, who this year, for the first time, will have the privilege of voting.

All young people who are eligible for the ceremony, may register at the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A., it was announced. Mayor Percy E. George will be chairman at the ceremony which is being sponsored by the Local Council of Women and several other organizations, including Women's Canadian Club, Sons of Canada, and Canadian Daughter's League.

It was decided by members of the council to give a donation toward expenses of the ceremony.

Members were reminded by Mrs. Bertha Parsons, president, to keep informed on the prices of foodstuffs and other articles, in view of the lifting of rationing under government de-control program.

In protest at the bringing of displaced European people to Canada by private interests for contract labor, a resolution was passed by the council, to be forwarded to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor and Immigration; Hon. R. W. Mayhew, M.L.A., Victoria; Gen. G. R. Pearkes, M.L.A., Nanaimo, and to National Council of Women now holding their annual convention in Regina.

James Bay United Church Women's Association were accepted in affiliation with the Local Council.

Descendant Of Pioneer Family Wedding Principal Saturday

Miss Catherine Macdonald, daughter of Major and Mrs. A. D. Macdonald, "Duntulm," Sidney, V.I., and member of one of Victoria's pioneer families, and Flt.-Lt. John Waters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Waters of Vancouver, were principals in a wedding of much interest both here and on the mainland, Saturday afternoon at Holy Trinity Church, Patricia Bay. The marriage rites were solemnized by Sqdn.-Ldr. T. R. Lancaster.

Air Commodore S. G. L. Pope, R.A.F., proposed a toast to the bride's future happiness at a reception held at "Duntulm," where Mrs. Macdonald in a dusty blue ensemble and Mrs. Waters in smart grey crepe assisted in receiving guests. The bride and groom cut their three-tier cake with Major Macdonald's artillery sword.

The bride, a granddaughter of the late Senator and Mrs. W. J. Macdonald of Armadale, and great-granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunsmuir, Craigdarroch Castle, was given in marriage by her father. Brocade taffeta fashioned with peplum effect over full skirt formed the classic gown over which the bride wore illusion net, held with sprigs of orange blossoms. A pearl necklace was her only jewelry and her bridal bouquet was of gardenias, white carnations and stephanotis. Slim-fitted dove grey crepe was worn by Miss Jean Macdonald, attendant for her sister. To complement her gown she wore long white gloves, and small head veil caught with red roses, repeated in her bouquet.

Ian Douglas attended the groom. Seating guests were Flt.-Lt. H. F. North, R.C.A.F., and Robert Jackson.

Gold gabardine fashioned the smart suit with which the bride wore brown ribbon-trimmed felt hat and brown accessories for the honeymoon up-island. Flt.-Lt. and Mrs. Waters plan to reside in Vancouver.

Free Enterprise Not As Alert
As It Should Be, Says Grauer

"There is no unity in the world, no sense of common purpose," said A. E. Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., at the Empress Hotel Monday evening when he outlined to 250 visiting Canadian Manufacturers' Association members the steps free enterprise must take to overcome the vast counter-movement against it.

"A creed of hate has been built up stemming from Karl Marx and his doctrines of the class struggle and of exploitation of the masses by the so-called capitalists," Mr. Grauer asserted.

He said it was apparent one of the basic reasons why Communism or Socialism continues to appeal to many people, even in highly developed countries such as Canada and the U.S. is because of the discontents of people, whatever may be their cause.

The B.C.E.R. president charged free enterprise has not been as alert as it should be in laying down a positive program of diagnosis and remedial action. Such a program, he said, would both preach and practice the virtues of co-operation and friendship, as against the creed of class struggle and hatred.

FOUR FIELDS
To illustrate his thesis he took examples from four fields: health, community organization, factory organization and education.

In the field of health, his example was that of mental illnesses of all sorts which he grouped under the term "mental hygiene."

The importance and ramifications of mental hygiene have only recently been realized, Mr. Grauer said. The lack of accommodation for mental defectives in Canada exacts a heavy price in crime and other social problems.

Again, he continued, there are psycho-neuroses, affecting perhaps 10 per cent of the population. "Here then are a large number of Canadians who, to a greater or lesser degree, are dissatisfied and groping because of a mental and nervous condition. We have here numerous persons who are not properly oriented. They don't know what their trouble is.

"What should be more natural than that many of them would fall for high-pressure slogans of exploitation and class struggle, and attribute their troubles to the nature of the economic system under which they are living."

In the field of community organization, Mr. Grauer said, "Our social thinkers have perhaps nowhere devoted less scientific attention, and come up with less enlightenment, than in this complicated field of the inter-relationship of our economic and industrial organization with human beings in their social groups and in their community lives."

"Community arts and community organizations are an important sector in the fight against social disintegration of our times," Mr. Grauer continued. "Where the individual is thoroughly adjusted to his community through the arts, cultural opportunities, and other group activities, you will have a relatively happy and contented individual who thinks in terms of co-operation rather than class struggle."

FACTORY ORGANIZATION
Turning to factory organization, Mr. Grauer said there was growing evidence the feeling of "belonging" to a group is one of basic importance for industrial morale within the factory.

"Inside the factory, we have so far had our brilliant achievements on the scientific, technical and operational sides, but have lagged behind on the side of social co-operation and morale. The development of personnel work, interest in industrial psychology and industrial research with business all show an increasing awareness of this problem. But there is a vast amount of patient, constructive work ahead of business leaders before our understanding of the human side of the factory comes anywhere near our understanding of the technical and operational sides."

"Yet there is no field that will show greater regard either in the efficient operation of a business, or in the constructive development of the system of free enterprise."

EDUCATION FIELD

For his final example, Mr. Grauer took the field of education. One of the greatest lacks, he said, is the way in which children have been neglected before the school entry age of six. "Research in the field of educational and child psychology has long shown that the pattern of the adult is largely formed by the time the child reaches the age of six."

"The outstanding lack from the point of view of educational organization is a nursery school system, which would become part of our general education system, taking the child from the age of two on. What the nursery school does is teach the small child, before non-social habits crystallize, to live in a group and to become a social being."

"From the point of view of having well-adjusted individuals, think of the great advancement that would take place if the child were in a nursery school for half the day from the age of two onwards where he would form the habit of adjusting himself to a group."

"The nursery school would also pick up the child with anti-social habits at a time when they could be changed, whether they be habits learned in the hard school of an underprivileged neighborhood, or the habits learned by the too-privileged child of a wealthy home."

"To sum up, democratic free enterprise, while realizing the importance of the individual and his rights and liberties, has tended to concentrate upon economic and material factors to the loss of the more intangible but equally basic considerations that tie the individual into the group and make for a healthy social organization."

Socialism and Communism have aggressively advanced their solution to present discontents, according to Mr. Grauer but he believed their solution to be based upon a wrong diagnosis. "Their stress on material considerations and class antagonisms tends to disrupt society and degrade the individual; while their proposal to concentrate economic and political power in the same hands would inevitably lead to the dictatorship of the absolute state."

"The direction in which the democratic free enterprise countries of Canada and the U.S. are going depends on their ability to deal with social discontents as effectively as they have with scientific and technological problems," Mr. Grauer concluded.

2,300 Robot Bombs
Blasted London

Three years ago next week, June 15, 1944, the Germans launched their first robot bomb attack on England, and before the sites from which the bombs had been launched were overrun by the Allies, more than 8,000 missiles had been directed across the English Channel. Although one-quarter of this number failed during flight, some 2,300 reached the London area.

Canadian troops played an important part in the war against the robot bomb. Anti-aircraft gunners, before leaving England for the continent, virtually had a field day pounding away at the bombs as they winged erratically over the southern countries.

On the continent itself, the Canadian Army fought a series of bitter battles for the Channel Coast ports from which the bombs were being launched. Le Havre fell on Sept. 12, Boulogne on the 20, Cap Gris Nez on the 29, and Calais, after several days of stubborn, vicious resistance, on the 30.

Great Speed-up
In House-Building
Needed In Germany

BERLIN (Reuter)—If housing reconstruction and repairs in the British zone of Germany continue at the present rate, it will take until the year 2121 for Germans to reach a housing standard equivalent to that planned for Britain by next year.

The present rate will, however, be speeded up. But few officials, either Allied or German, are optimistic of the 1948 British housing standard being reached in Germany before about 1990.

About 750,000 Germans in the British zone live in what is described as "emergency accommodation."

First priority goes to miners, especially those in the Ruhr valley. Experts believe that on a long-term view, the interests of the 23,000,000 inhabitants of the British zone will best be served by deliberately favoring the mining community in the matter of housing.

Of 5,500,000 homes—the official term is "dwelling units"— which existed in 1939 in the geographical area which is now in the British zone, 1,600,000 were damaged beyond repair.

Apart from the problem of their replacement, to keep the position at its 1939 level, 100,000 dwelling units a year would need to be built or made habitable. The present housing drive is making available 75,000 units. But against this must be set a continuing increase in population, as more and more refugees come in from the east.

New Mystery Drama Opens At Dominion

Starring Robert Alda, Andrea King and Peter Lorre, Warner Bros.' new mystery drama, "The Beast With Five Fingers," is scheduled to open tonight at the Dominion Theatre. With an important featured cast that includes Victor Francen and J. Carrol Naish, the exciting drama was adapted for the screen by Curt Siodmak from an original story by William Fryer Harvey.

They Play 'Reveille' On A Record Now

The bugler at the Royal Canadian School of Infantry, Camp Borden, likes the army in its present "mechanized" state, and for a very good reason. He no longer is required to go outdoors in fair weather or foul to sound reveille.

Instead, a soldier merely puts on a record on the school's public address system and the sweetest and most popular notes in the army's repertoire reverberate throughout the camp's sleeping quarters.

The reveille "broadcast" not only pleases the bugler, more than one officer cadet taking his C.O.T.C. training at the school gets a kick out of rolling over, stretching and listening to the strident notes as they herald the start of another day's training.

The reason for the strange request was a sequence in "Love Laughs at Andy Hardy," current attraction at the Capitol Theatre. The scene called for six-foot four-inch tall Dorothy Ford to appear wearing a breath-taking swim suit, but since an ordinarily daring suit would have been altogether inadequate for this glamazon, a special number had to be created.

The oddest request received by the M-G-M wardrobe department in some time was for a "skimpy bathing suit" using twice as much material as goes into an ordinary suit.

ATLAS THEATRE

James Cagney turned script writer for the Twentieth Century-Fox adventure drama "13 Rue Madeleine," in which he is starred at the "Theatre."

The script originally said Cagney must be a superlative golfer and a tennis player, and Jimmy is neither. He is, however, a wizard at the fine and ancient art of Judo. A hurried consultation, and the script was abandoned temporarily. Instead of being athletic at a country club, Jimmy shows off his stuff at a Y.M.C.A. gymnasium.

PLAZA THEATRE

Academy Award winner Dr. Miklos Rozsa composed and conducted the unusual musical score for "The Red House," the Sol Lesser production currently at the Plaza Theatre.

Some of Rozsa's most famous scores include those for "A Song to Remember," "The Lost Weekend" and "Spellbound," which won for him the 1945 Academy Music Award.

ROYAL THEATRE

"Humoresque," Warner Bros. new screen drama of a woman's love for a concert violinist, starring Joan Crawford and John Garfield is currently at the Royal Theatre. The film, based on Fannie Hurst's story, features Oscar Levant and J. Carrol Naish.

Clifford Odets and Zachary Gold wrote the screenplay which was directed by Jean Negulesco and produced by Jerry Wald.

Increasing Costs Create New Problems For Dietitians

OTTAWA (CP)—The dietitian of today must use efficiency as a weapon of retrenchment to meet the "alarming" rise in costs of the food and labor fronts.

That was the warning the Canadian Dietetic Association got from a Toronto nutritionist, Violet Ryley, Monday night as she said that at present there was no "riskier" line of business than the food business and it was the duty of every dietitian to offset these costs by efficiency.

This 12th annual meeting of the C.D.A. has seen more than 200 food experts from hospitals, restaurants and government departments across the Dominion discussing ways and means of improving the diet of the Canadian public.

There's more to being a dietitian than figuring out budgets and concocting menus, members learned as they heard addresses by food authorities working in widely different fields.

In the industrial field the convention heard Jessie Nalmsmith of Montreal outline the responsibilities of the dietitian who manages the employees' cafeteria.

"Any restaurant which seats around 100 people warrants the employment of a full-time qualified dietitian," she said.

Margaret Broatch of London, Eng., put in a word for point-conscious Britain, where menu-making is a "headache" for harried dietitians. Miss Broatch, dietetic adviser of the King Edward Hospital Fund, at present is studying Canadian hospital training courses, equipment and service of food.

More Study Of Coal Needed, Chemists Told By Professor

BANFF (CP)—Coal has been mined and in general use for a great many years, yet surprisingly little is known of its chemical composition. It is important that more research be done on this if coal is to realize its proper place as a basis of chemical industry.

This was the theme of the L. E. Westman Memorial Lecture, delivered at a meeting of the national conference of the Chemical Institute of Canada at Banff Monday by Dr. Stacey Ward, acting professor of mining of the University of Birmingham, Eng. Dr. Ward was brought to Canada by the institute to address the Banff conference.

Remarkably few chemists are now engaged in research on coal, Dr. Ward continued, as compared with the number working on petroleum, cellulose and sugar, yet coal is already recognized as one of the most important sources of chemical materials, over 300 chemical compounds already being produced from it. Hydrogenation, a process by which coal is treated under pressure and heat with hydrogen gas, is already being used to produce gasoline and diesel fuels, but this process should be greatly extended to yield other useful products and chemicals.

6-Week Recess Asked

TOKYO (AP)—The defence asked the International War Crimes Court today for a six-weeks' recess beginning June 23 "for preparation of the remainder of the defendants' cases." Chief Justice Sir William Webb said it would be taken under consideration.

Both prosecution and defence staffs are known to favor a vacation recess during the hot summer, but chief trial prosecutor Frank S. Tavenner, Roanoke, Va., said he would object unless the defence would agree to revise procedure and incorporate the Pacific war phase of its testimony into individual defences by the 25 accused Japanese.

Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

A MOVIE THAT WON'T BE CHANGED

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—For the first time in film history a movie is being filmed in Hollywood without the aid of a screen writer. There is no script for the film version of William Saroyan's Pulitzer prize-winning play, "The Time of Your Life."

The film is being shot word for word, scene for scene, from the play. The words and situations that couldn't be used because of censorship were rewritten by Saroyan himself.

The Cagney brothers, Jimmy and Bill, are the fellows having the time of their lives with his novel approach to a motion picture. Bill is the producer, Jimmy is the star.

There was no other alternative. As Bill explains: "You can't rewrite Saroyan."

Not to mention the fact that there's no story to rewrite, let alone film. "The Time of Your Life" is just a lot of Saroyan characters—and I do mean characters—wandering in and out of a cheap San Francisco waterfront bar.

BAR IS AUTHENTIC

The background is the same. Just the one set, Nick's Pacific Street Saloon, Restaurant and Entertainment Palace, as there is in the Saroyan play, and a brief scene in a hotel room.

Even the bar is Saroyan. Bill Cagney bought it in San Francisco after Saroyan had told him: "Please get an authentic old San Francisco bar. There's no bar like a San Francisco bar." "The Time of Your Life" opened on Broadway in 1939. Eddie Dowling produced, played the key role, and co-directed with Saroyan, in conjunction with the Theatre Guild.

There was an impressive cast with three unknowns who later became famous in Hollywood. Gene Kelly, Celeste Holm and William Bendix.

Kelly played Harry, the natural-born hooper who wanted to make people laugh but couldn't. Celeste was Mary L., the unhappy woman of quality and beauty. Bendix played the role of the cop.

In the Cagney film version, Paul Draper is the dancer, Gale Paige is Mary L., and Bendix has graduated to the role of Nick.

CENSORSHIP PROBLEM

The other important characters in the movie are Wayne Morris as Tom, "a great big man of about 30 who appears to be much younger because of the childlike expression of his face—handsome, dumb, innocent, troubled, and a little bewildered by everything."

Jeanne Cagney is Kitty Duval, the young woman with memories. James Barton is Kilt Carson, the old Indian fighter.

Jimmy Cagney is Joe—"always, calm, always quiet, always thinking, always eager, always bored, always superb."

The only censorship problem was to change the character of Kitty. In the play she was a woman of the street. In the movie she'll be an out-of-work actress.

Mezger Attacks Wilkinson Stand On New Labor Act

Robert Mezger, secretary of the C.C.L.-affiliated Victoria Labor Council, today hit back at the "give it a fair trial" attitude of George A. Wilkinson, secretary of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.), toward British Columbia's new labor code.

"Mr. Wilkinson's apparent support of Bill 39 is not in the interests of organized labor and parallels the expressions of opinion of 'bosses' organizations," said Mr. Mezger.

"I would liken Mr. Wilkinson's position of 'give it a trial' to a man with a noose around his neck standing on a trap door to see if it works," he continued.

The Victoria Labor Council at a meeting Monday night fully endorsed the position of the British Columbia Federation of Labor convention in Vancouver, council members condemning the new labor act as a "straight-jacket on labor."

Immigration Scored By Private Persons

Importation of 100 European displaced persons to Canada to work in eastern textile mills was scored by the Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.) Monday night.

While not opposed to immigration the council attacked the federal government for permitting an industrialist to bring labor into the country, "for his selfish purposes" and "to work them at wages below the prevailing rates."

"This tends to bring down the standard of living of Canadian people," said Robert Mezger, secretary of the council.

"We do not disapprove of immigration on the part of the government, but we do disapprove of a private individual being given the authority to bring in sweat-shop labor from Europe."

Parachute Eggs

Soldiers and airmen who team up to air supply parties of servicemen engaged in scientific or training forays into isolated areas, are tough—but oh, so gentle!

This fact was demonstrated conclusively when a crate of fresh eggs was dropped recently to members of an army survey party operating in uncharted wilderness south of Fort Churchill, Man. Despite the fact that the eggs were parachuted from a height of 1,000 feet, not a single one was cracked on landing.

The same air supply crews are prepared to airdrop anything from a radio tube to a jeep to men who geographically are cut off from all other means of supply.

No' Vote Urged On Franchise

The Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.) Monday night called on organized labor in Victoria to vote "No" in the plebiscite to approve the city transit franchise.

The council gave the following reasons for not supporting the proposed franchise:

1. The agreement terms did not provide for payment by the company of sufficient funds to offset damage to streets by buses.

2. There was no guarantee the six-cent fare structure would continue.

3. No guarantee was provided that modern equipment would be used.

4. Ratepayers have not had an opportunity to vote on public ownership.

Welland Canal Builder, Andrew R. Porter, Dies

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The funeral of the late Andrew R. Porter, 90, widely-known marine and railroad terminal, tunnel and canal builder was held here today.

Porter constructed two of the world's largest marine terminals, at Norfolk, Va., and Halifax, N.S., the Welland Canal and the under-river tubes between Detroit and Windsor. He was prominent in building of the Great Northern Railroad line between Havre, Mont., and Seattle; the Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific and several smaller Oregon railroad lines. He had lived here since 1912.

He was born in Nova Scotia April 1, 1857. He died Saturday. His wife, a son, Guy R. Porter, and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Porter Butler, wife of the U.S. ambassador to Australia, survive him.

Barber Electrocuted

LONDON (AP)—Maurice Understone, a barber, was electrocuted by his own electric clippers, a coroner's inquest found Monday. Witnesses said a man in Understone's barber chair complained the clippers were giving him shocks. Understone shifted the clippers from one hand to the other, then touched a pipe, collapsed and died, the witnesses testified.

400 Canadians Killed Or Wounded In U.K. Bombings

More than 400 Canadian Army officers and men were killed or wounded during air raids directed against Great Britain in World War II, figures compiled by the army's historical section reveal. Of this number, nine officers and 114 other ranks were killed or died of wounds, and 24 officers and 277 other ranks were wounded.

First loss of life suffered by the Canadian army as a result of an enemy raid was on July 6, 1940, when three soldiers were killed and one officer and 28 other ranks wounded in the daylight bombing of Aldershot.

The staff at Canadian Military Headquarters in London suffered its first casualty on Sept. 24, 1940, when a sergeant was wounded, and its first fatal casualties in March, 1941, when two soldiers employed at C.M.H.Q. were numbered among the four Canadian dead in the bombing of the Cafe de Paris, near Leicester Square.

Twenty-two Canadians died in a heavy, all-night attack directed against London on the night of 16-17 April, 1941—ten of them in a service club which was totally destroyed.

Hit-and-run raids on the south coast also took a number of Canadian lives. Ten members of the 17th Duke of York's Canadian Hussars were killed and 31 admitted to hospital as a result of a sneak raid on Hastings in May, 1943, and eight members of a Canadian Field Ambulance were killed and three injured in a similar attack on Eastbourne, in August, 1942.

Taxation, Control Of U.S. Troops In Canada Debated In Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons swung back to a discussion of taxation policies Monday as a clause-by-clause study of bills to implement budget changes was begun.

The chamber opened, but did not complete, examination of a bill amending the Income War Tax Act after quickly adopting the principle of the legislation by giving it second reading.

Before opening the budget discussion, the House gave third and final reading to a bill to authorize United States army courts to exercise jurisdiction over American troops visiting Canada. The measure now goes to the Senate for its approval.

FARMERS AND TAXES

Finance Minister Abbott said his department had under "very active consideration" Opposition suggestions that farmers be allowed to establish "basic" herds for income tax purposes.

John Probe, C.C.F., Regina City, urged the government to consider allowing income tax deductions for teachers taking summer school courses and "other proper professional expenses."

The Minister told F. D. Shaw, S.C., Red Deer, Alta., that one of the changes being made would allow an individual to deduct amounts spent on the support of dependents regardless of the place of residence of the dependents.

J. A. Ross, P.C., Souris, Man., and Robert Fair, S.C., Battle River, Alta., suggested farmers be given a tax concession on the production of hogs, but Mr. Abbott indicated this could not be done.

NUMBERS KEPT SECRET

During the discussion of the bill on U.S. army counts for troops of the republic in Canada, Defence Minister Claxton declined to give C.C.F. members information on the number of U.S. troops in Canada and said that "until we can secure an exchange of information on a completely guaranteed reciprocal basis we do not propose to give that information to anyone who wants to get it."

Mr. Claxton said the number of U.S. troops now in Canada was insignificant and information about them would be of no general military significance. However, he had to think of the future.

"The situation as it exists today is not at all significant or serious," he told M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, and Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East. "But let us suppose, for example, that three more weather stations or five more loran stations are built, and let us suppose that the number of men serving those stations, principally Canadian and American, has increased."

"That can be played up in this or in other countries as a very dangerous and threatening sign, whereas everyone in this country knows that it would be just the most reasonable kind of effort to defend our own country and to prepare us for any emergency, should such emergency arise."

Mr. Coldwell said the "right of Parliament to know what troops or armies are within the borders of a country, and in whose command those troops are, and what they are doing, has been a fundamental principle of our British parliamentary practice in these institutions."

Mr. MacInnis shared this view and said that "if we are secretive about these matters surely we are bound to create suspicion not only in our own country but outside as well."

Officer Cadets Rate A Salute

Officials at Army Headquarters indicated this week that action is now being taken to amend existing army orders so that C.O.T.C. cadets will pay and receive the same compliments accorded fully commissioned officers of the three services.

Until now, officer cadets of the various Canadian Officers Training Corps contingents have not rated a salute from warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the three services. They were, however, required to

Fight Enlivens Major Ball Game

Fans at a recent New York Yankees-Detroit American League ball game got some added thrills when a fight broke out in the fourth inning at Briggs Stadium, Detroit. Billy Johnson slid home safely when catcher Hal Wagner missed the throw. Ralph Houk of the Yanks accused Wagner of going out of his way to block Johnson and took a punch at him. Freddie Hutchinson and Roy Cullenbine (left to right) here argue with umpire Charley Berry as Steve O'Neill, Detroit manager (foreground), moves in. Houk and Hutchinson were banished. Yankees won, 7 to 0.

Bonner, Byers Combine To Give Esquimalt Close Win

Ralph Bonner, veteran portside twirler, who starred here in many a game before the war for the Longshoremen, made his return to senior A softball ranks a winning one last night as he pitched the league-leading Esquimalt nine to an 8 to 6 win over Douglas Tire before one of the season's better crowds.

After compiling an early six-run lead mainly through the efforts of Ray Byers, who led the stickers with four for four including a home run, a triple and two singles the meat dealers were hard pressed to hold off the closing rally of the third-place tiremen.

A home run smash by Vic Dale with a mate on board in the seventh proved to be the deciding margin.

Losers scored three run in the sixth, one coming on a home run by Harry Holness. In the seventh they added one more on a pair of hits and an infield bobbie. Another miscue plus a couple of base hits and an infield out gave the tiremen their final two runs in the eighth.

Joe Bryant and Ken Gunter divided pitching chores for Douglas Tire with Gunter being charged with the loss.

B.C. Forest Products only got Dodo McKay two runs last night but that was enough as the right-hander set down Bombers with one lone tally for a 2 to 1 decision. Victory was the 10th straight for the Foresters without a defeat. Roussey's single scored McQuirter with the deciding run.

Sutherland's Double Gives Eagles Win Over Luckless Navy

Ability to win the close ones is the main reason that Gar Taylor's Eagles are leading the senior amateur baseball league. They proved this again last night when they took a 3 to 2, 12-inning decision from the bottom place Navy nine.

Red Sutherland's double in the first half of the third extra inning accounted for the winning tally, scoring Jimmy Morrison, who had led off with a single.

Stan Davies, veteran curve ball right-hander went the distance for the birdmen and had a shutout in his grasp until the last of the ninth when sailors tied the score at 2 to 2 on a pair of unearned markers. With two men out a pair of errors by third baseman Benn and one by Davies allowed two men to cross the plate.

Up until that time Davies had pitched two-hit ball, with Padgett, sailor shortstop, getting both bingles.

Jeff Worrell, workhorse of the Navy team, was almost as effective as his rival, allowing single runs in the first and seventh innings before losing out in the 12th.

Each hurler struck out five, Worrell allowing eight hits to Davies' five.

The next game will take place at Macdonald Park Wednesday night at 7 with Eagles meeting Pitzer and Nex.

Short score follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Eagles	3	8	4
Navy	2	5	3

Cooper Big Spark In Giants' Drive

A $175,000 bust last year, big Walker Cooper is proving a $250,000 beauty this season. The husky New York Giants' catcher, who couldn't get out of his own way last season following his near-record purchase from St. Louis Cardinals, has been one of the leading factors in the club's surprise showing this year.

This year Cooper still is bothered by the two broken fingers on his throwing hand which hampered his work last season, but you would never suspect it judging by his brilliant performance behind the plate and at the bat.

Cooper, who is hitting .303, slammed two home runs yesterday as the Giants, staging an almost unbelievable finish, slugged out a 13 to 10 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates.

In the other National League games, the Boston Braves, behind one-hit pitching by Charlie (Red) Barrett, shut out Chicago Cubs 1 to 0. St. Louis Cardinals divided a doubleheader with the Phillies, winning the first 4 to 2, and losing the second 2 to 1 and Cincinnati beat Brooklyn 9 to 6.

New York Yankees blew a fine opportunity to narrow Detroit's American League-leading margin of 1½ games when Chicago White Sox overcame an 8 to 2 Vanke lead and won 9 to 8 in 10 innings. The Tigers were soundly trounced by Philadelphia Athletics in Detroit 11 to 3, and Boston Red Sox defeated the Indians in a battle of home runs in Cleveland 7 to 5. The St. Louis Browns nipped Washington Senators 1 to 0.

Besides Cooper's round trippers, Buddy Kerr, Jack Lohrke and Mickey Witke hit homers for the Giants and Ralph Kiner four-bagged for the Pirates in the Giants' great uphill battle. It was the 10th for the National League's home run king.

The Giants, trailing 8 to 1 in the last of the eighth, suddenly shelled starter Kirby Higbe, Edson Bahr, Hank Behrman and Art Herring for eight hits and two walks, good for eight runs to take a 9 to 8 advantage, from where they went on to win on Cooper's second homer.

At an emergency meeting of the Vancouver Island Affiliated Fish and Game Associations held Monday night in Nanaimo, delegates from all associated clubs went on record, by majority vote, to have the buck deer bag limit of three per season and only one in possession at any time remain on Vancouver Island.

This action of the meeting will be immediately conveyed to the British Columbia Game Commission.

Attending from the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association were Les Freer, George "Red" Laird and game Warden Joe Jones.

Telegrams were sent to all affiliated clubs to have delegates at the meeting and once again get the feeling of island sportsmen on the deer bag limit question.

It was called in view of the action taken at the sportsmen-game officials' convention held at the end of May in Harrison Hot Springs when the convention defeated the island recommendation that the bag limit remain as is previous years.

FAVOR SMALLER LIMIT
The inaugural game parley went on record as favoring a two-deer bag limit and as a result it is expected the Game Commission will in all probability make the lower number of bucks law prior to the opening of the forthcoming deer season.

When the island affiliated clubs voted on the matter of deer bag limits before the convention, the vote went nine in favor of an unchanged limit and to have two weeks sliced off the end of the season in lieu of the two-limit. Three clubs, however, voted for the lower limit.

By PETE SALLAWAY

VICTORIA'S TWO sports sons,

Lynn and Murray Patrick, who are now associated with hockey as coaches, came up with some interesting observations during their recent visit to Montreal for the annual meeting of the National Hockey League board of directors.

A suggestion that some minor league players aren't doing their best work because they are being paid too much came from Lynn, who made his debut in the coaching ranks by handling New Haven of the American Hockey League last winter. "Some players only think about making the money the easiest way, and they don't care whether they win or lose on the ice," Lynn said.

THIS FAULT is mainly with the veterans, especially those who have had some experience in the N.H.L., Lynn continued. They make about as much money in the A.H.L. as they did in the big time and like to do it the easiest way. Some of his men last year were "happier sitting on the bench than taking their turn on the ice." In regard to such a situation Lynn said: "I'd sooner have a lot of kids who know nothing on my club than veterans who are just going along for the ride."

Track Aspirants Invited To Y.M.C.A. Workout Tonight

Bruce Humber, former Olympic sprinter and present mentor of the Y.M.C.A. dash men issued an invitation today to all sprinters who took part in the city championships to attend the regular workout of the Flying "Y" squad at the high school tonight at 6.30.

Humber will be in charge of the sprinters with Archie McKinnon looking after the middle distance men and Bruce Thirwell handling the jumpers. Don Wilson has a pole vaulting pit rigged up for any enthusiasts in that department.

Three workouts are held weekly by the Flying "Y" on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6.30 and Saturdays at 2.30. Any track and field aspirant of the city and district is welcome to attend.

England Dismissed Cheaply In Cricket

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (Reuter)

—English sport was taking yet another beating here today when South African bowlers routed English batsmen on what all experts have termed a perfect wicket to force the English cricket team to follow on 325 runs behind South Africa's first innings total of 533.

When play resumed today, third day of the first test match, the England total stood at 154 for two wickets. But in a deadly spell of bowling South Africa took the remaining eight-wickets for 54 runs before lunch and England was all out for 208.

Forced to bat again, England then lost one wicket for 27 runs and was battling hard to avoid defeat in this first match.

The teams are playing a best-of-five series.

Faltering A's Work Steady Woop Tonight

Tumbled into fourth position in the Western International League, following a 14 to 1 drubbing by Spokane last night, Manager Ted Norbert of Victoria Athletics will call on the good left arm of Bill Woop in an effort to stop the Indians at Athletic Park tonight. A's, who have dropped four out of five games to Spokane, looked particularly bad in their latest defeat, the club appearing lifeless after going behind in the first inning.

Athletics are fourth, half a game back of Salem who came up with a double victory last night over the league-leading Bremerton Bluejackets. Although Manager Norbert again moved into the Victoria lineup, in left field, the local club lacked power at the plate as it picked up only five hits from the offerings of lanky right-hander Bob Costello and scored its only run as the result of a walk with the bases loaded.

"First inning played an important part in the final result. Indians got a break when catcher Bill Anks missed a foul pop by Bud Hicks and on the next pitch he lined the ball over the fence with Jim Dew on second base by virtue of a double. A's opened their half with Frank Lucchesi reaching first on a single and going all the way to third on Leo Righetti's double. With the fans looking for a big rally Jack Harshman lined to shortstop Hicks and Righetti was doubled. Bill White hit one on the nose right at Hicks and it was all over.

INDIANS SCORE OFTEN

A's never looked dangerous again as Spokane went on to add another single run in the second, two in the fifth and make it a rout with three in the seventh, two in the eighth and four in the ninth. Victoria's only run came in the fourth when two errors and a pair of walks filled the bags and Mitchell got himself a base on balls. With the bases still populated, Frank Lucchesi fanned.

Dick Mitchell, who seems to have trouble turning in a good mound performance at home, was charged with the loss. He gave up the ghost in the seventh and Joe Blankenship, who took over, was no problem to the Spokane batters as they rapped him for eight hits and six runs in three innings.

Costello, in addition to pitching himself a smart game, came into his own at the plate in the ninth when, after four previous strikeouts, he lifted the ball over the centre field fence.

Hicks led the Spokane attack with four for six, closely followed by Dow and Doug Donnan, each with three hits.

Officials of the Victoria club announced last night that pitcher Jib Gibson had been given his unconditional release and that hurler Bill Prior had decided to return to his job and would be placed on the suspended list.

It was pitcher's night down Salem way, Wendell Mossor holding Bremerton to five hits to win the seven-inning opener, 3 to 2, and Hank Anderson giving the Tars just four more to capture the full-length finale, 5 to 2.

Salem won the first tilt in a hurry, getting all its runs by the end of the third, and poured on the bat power in the seventh to score three runs and take the nightcap. The first game loss was the season's first defeat for Bremerton hurler Jim Lowman.

Wenatchee went round and round in the fifth inning of its game at Vancouver to take a 6 to 3 lead, but lost it when the Capilano came back with a five-run rally in the bottom half of the frame. Vancouver remained in front for the rest of the route.

Salem moves to Tacoma today and Yakima goes to Bremerton.

HUGE TURTLES WITH TEETH LIVED IN AGE OF REPTILES

If you spend some time in the country this summer, it is likely that you will see a turtle or two. Turtles are found, most often, in and around lakes or ponds. Perhaps you will come across a little mud turtle with a shell only a few inches across. This may seem like a low, slow-moving form of life, but if a turtle could talk, it might say to you:

"We turtles have a long history. We were in the world before there were any people walking around."

That would be quite true. There were turtles of several kinds back in the Age of Reptiles, when dinosaurs were roaming the earth. If a heavy dinosaur stepped on a turtle, it ended the life of the shelled animal. For this reason the turtles must have tried to escape when they saw the big fellows coming near. By seeking water, they had the best chance of getting away.

Turtles are reptiles. Those which lived in the Age of Reptiles were related to dinosaurs. They had teeth, and in that way differed from modern turtles. Turtles of today are without teeth, but some kinds have sharp, horny plates in their mouths, and these plates can be used for biting.

Skeletons of ancient turtles show other facts about the animals. The most astonishing thing, perhaps, is the size of some of them.

Yale University has a museum with a turtle skeleton of great interest. This skeleton is almost complete.

The leg bones in the Yale skeleton show that each front limb had a length of about five feet. With the neck bones, the skull measures close to three feet.

That turtle lived in the Age of Reptiles, and is classified as a sea turtle. It had a shell about seven feet long and six and a half feet wide. Instead of swimming in the manner of a fish, it used its big legs as paddles. In a sense we may say that it "rowed" itself along.

The name Archelon is used to describe the giant sea turtle which I have described. The bones were found bedded in a rock layer in South Dakota. The man who found the remains estimated that, during life, the animal weighed three tons.

Jap Sailors Bring LST Ships To Bremerton

SEATTLE (AP)—The first of a fleet of about 100 LST ships manned entirely by Japanese officers and crews arrived at the Puget Sound naval shipyard at Bremerton Monday.

The ships are being brought to the yard from Japan to be decommissioned and disposed of by the Maritime Commission.

Petition Calls For Bill Of Rights

OTTAWA (CP)—Allister Stewart, C.C.F., Winnipeg North, tabled in the Commons Monday afternoon a petition signed by an estimated 500,960 persons and calling for incorporation of a bill of rights in the Canadian constitution.

He said the petition had been promoted by the Witnesses of Jehovah. While he did not agree with the religious views of the Witnesses, he had consented to table their petition because an ordinary citizen did not have the right to make such a presentation.

Mr. Stewart, in a statement released after he had made the presentation, said that according to the last census there were worth, designated as a barracks ship to house the Japanese while in the shipyards, also has arrived. The Japanese sailors will not be permitted to go ashore until they return to their homeland.

about 7,000 Jehovah's Witnesses in Canada.

"It is obvious that over 490,000 other Canadians are in agreement that Canada should have a bill of rights," said Mr. Stewart.

The petition said that "recent experiences of Jehovah's Witnesses in the province of Quebec prove that throughout the whole Dominion basic personal rights are open to attack and loss because of a failure to have them guaranteed by a written constitution."

Labor Shortage Problem Hits Caterers For Tourist Business

Nearly every restaurant, hotel or business catering to the tourist trade is short of help in Victoria, according to National Selective officials here, who are of the opinion that the shortage is even greater than it was last year.

The shortage is seriously affecting local business men who are seeking waitresses, chambermaids, as well as unskilled help. In some cases, individual employers have asked for as many as 10 girls at one time.

"The employment situation changed overnight," said a selective service official. "Three weeks ago we were having difficulty in finding employment for applicants, particularly for unskilled workers. Then by the end of May we could not find enough women to fill the vacancies."

The laundry business is especially hard hit by the shortage of help. With regard to up-island resorts, officials said vacancies were filled, mostly by college students and by applicants who had left earlier to obtain the positions.

Employers said the shortage of help was largely due to a large tourist trade and because many of their employees were taking holidays.

One employer said: "If I don't give my employees holidays, they just take them or leave. That is why there is such a big turn-over."

The shortage of help is seriously cutting down production at large laundry plants. One manager said that he would have liked to have given his employees a holiday Monday, but due to the shortage of help he was forced to keep his plant open.

The shortage of help does not apply to skilled women help, and according to Selective officials conditions in this respect remain about the same as they have been since the end of the war.

Burland of 2369 Central Avenue that their son, George Russell Burland, 23, has been awarded the Sara Meltzer prize for personal and scholastic attainment during his four years of medicine at the Manitoba Medical College. Mr. Burland was successful in passing his fourth year examinations and is now acting as intern in Winnipeg General Hospital. His father, R. J. Burland, is C.P.R. district passenger agent.

Falling Snag Kills Logger At Alberni

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—John F. H. Johnson, 50, power saw operator, was killed by a falling snag during logging operations yesterday at Bloedel Stewart & Welsh Camp B on Franklin River, provincial police said today. Police have been unable to locate any relatives. An inquest will be held here tonight at 7.30 and will be adjourned to Friday at the same time.

Says Navy Not Made Obsolete By Atomic Bomb

Despite the discovery of the atomic bomb, naval supremacy during wartime is just as important a factor as it was before, according to H. T. Bishop, O.B.E., R.N., retired, general secretary of the Navy League of England who is visiting Victoria today.

Mr. Bishop said the atomic bomb had not made navies obsolete as some were inclined to believe. "Tactics and warships may change as the result of the bomb," he said, "but the navy will still remain the first line of defence and a most important factor in war."

The importance of maintaining a highly trained nucleus of seamen in case of emergency was stressed by Mr. Bishop, who said that naval training had become too technical, and it was no longer possible to build up a navy on short notice.

Mr. Bishop said he was impressed by various Navy League divisions across Canada and said the problems concerning the training of sea cadets were much the same in Canada as in Britain.

With regard to the shipbuilding industry in Britain, he said shortages of coal and steel plates was hampering construction of passenger vessels.

"We have all the orders we want, but the problem is getting materials to build these ships," he said.

He did not think that supplies would come under government control. "Shipping is a complicated business and the men who operate the shipping industry have hundreds of years of experience behind them," he said. "I don't think the government could do as good a job."

Mr. Bishop is scheduled to address the Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel Wednesday.

V.M.D. Nears Completion Of Four Vessels At Yard

In a general outline of conditions at Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., H. S. Hammill, general manager reported approaching completion of reconstruction of two vessels and shipping of two French Rhine barges.

The two vessels whose reconstruction is nearing an end are the C.P.R.'s Princess Kathleen, scheduled to leave June 20, and the converted yacht Corsair, scheduled to leave about July 15.

The former J. P. Morgan yacht, Corsair, is being converted to a luxury cruise ship for Pacific Cruise Lines Ltd. She will run out of Vancouver to Alaska during the summer and from San Francisco to South America during the summer.

Thomas Moffett, V.M.D. engineer, said considerable changes had been made to the yacht. A new steel deckhouse has been added to provide accommodation for passengers and some of the yacht's open decks have been enclosed. An observation room has been added and an all-electric galley installed.

Extensive change has also been made to the C.P.R.'s Princess Kathleen, which is scheduled to make her first trip to Seattle on the afternoon of June 21. Now gleaming in black and white, with buff and black funnels, the Kathleen looks radically different from the grey, untidy-looking troop transport which returned to her home port last year after five years' war service.

Steel walls left bare where panelling was ripped away at the beginning of her war career are now covered with lustrous veneer panels of mahogany, oak and bird's-eye maple. Nearly all of her passenger cabins are now being equipped with folding beds which will allow them to be used as day sitting rooms. Bathrooms in the de luxe cabins have been lined with enamelled steel, instead of the former tiling.

Other changes include the smoking lounge which is now situated forward where the deck officers' cabins used to be located. The deck officers are now housed in a new deckhouse built aft of the wheelhouse. The bridge railings which used to be open are now closed in and a permanent windscreen has been added. In the smoking lounge is an excellent wood panel carving by H. W. S. Soulsby depicting the boats of Capt. George Vancouver's H.M.S. Discovery exploring Lynn Canal, Alaska, in July, 1794.

In the panelled observation room, on the promenade deck, is a panel of natural wood inlay by Phillips Handicrafts, Victoria, showing a scene on the shores of Lake Bennett, Yukon.

New plumbing has been installed throughout the Kathleen as well as new fixtures. Work on both the Kathleen and Corsair has been held up owing to the difficulty of getting materials. Mr. Moffett said many orders for fixtures placed in England had gone unfilled and V.M.D. had been forced to go elsewhere to get them.

STEEL SHORTAGE

According to Mr. Hammill, the shortage of steel has held up production considerably at the shipyard. If steel had been available, he said, the yard would have been completing its 15th Rhine barge by now.

He is not sure what the situation is regarding construction of the rest of the barges. His company holds a contract for construction of 25 of the vessels, but a clause carries a provision which would permit the French to cancel the contract for 20 of the vessels. In view of present conditions in France, Mr. Hammill could not say what would be done regarding these, although the shipyard will complete the other three of the first five.

He anticipates there will be lay-offs following the completion of work on the Kathleen and Corsair.

The only major job now being rumored is possible conversion of a U.S. flatboat by V.M.D. for passenger trade. However, Mr. Hammill classed this deal as very nebulous so far. So far as he knows, W. R. Carpenter (Canada) Ltd., who are considering purchasing the vessel, have not even closed the deal. The U.S. carrier was originally a passenger ship converted to a flatboat for war service.

Local New Potatoes Will Hold Market After End Of Week

Local new potatoes are now becoming more plentiful on the Victoria market and wholesalers say they will not need to import any more potatoes from California after this week. The local potatoes will take care of the demand after that time they say.

Local grown cabbage is now taking care of the market here. The last shipment of California cabbage arrived last week.

Yakima Bing cherries arrived in Victoria today. There will be no more cherries from the Yakima valley for this season. During a 24-hour period over the week-end, 787 inches of rain fell on the valley and ruined the cherry and other crops. Growers report damage so extensive they will make no attempt to salvage the few remaining cherries on the trees.

The first full carload of watermelons was received here this morning and the first plums from Santa Rosa arrived Monday. A large shipment of cantaloupes is expected Thursday.

Local green peas are considerably cheaper this week but hothouse tomatoes have advanced in price.

J. Stewart Named Gideons' President

John Stewart has been re-elected president of the Victoria Camp of the Gideons.

Harry G. Penman has been elected vice-president, M. F. Munter, secretary, and George W. Parsons, chaplain.

The Victoria camp is embarking on a new venture in distributing a pocket-size volume of the New Testament of Psalms and Proverbs to every school child in Grade 6. Some 800 books will be distributed to Victoria students.

The books now in the hands of the text book branch of the Department of Education will be presented every year. The Gideons, Christian Commercial Men's Association of Canada, place Bibles in hotels and various public and government institutions.

New Trial Ordered By Supreme Court In Taxi Slaying Case

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada, in a judgment handed down today, allowed the appeal of Lawrence Deacon not Winnipeg, set aside his conviction of murder, and ordered a new trial.

Deacon had been convicted and sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Johann Johnson, Winnipeg taxi driver.

The decision of the six Supreme Court judges was unanimous.

One of the most spectacular cases in the assizes, the Deacon trial came before three Manitoba courts. The preliminary hearing was held in Winnipeg police court a year ago. On Nov. 2, Deacon was found guilty by a court of King's Bench jury and sentenced to be hanged Jan. 16.

His counsel, E. J. McMurray of Winnipeg, took the case to the Manitoba Court of Appeal, where a dissenting judgment gave Deacon the right to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada.

WOMAN'S EVIDENCE

In custody since April 6, 1946, Deacon was detained with a Mrs. Helen Berard by Winnipeg police. During the trial Mrs. Berard testified Deacon had been present at a party in her home. She had argued with her husband and later met Deacon again outside the house.

Mrs. Berard said they had taken a taxi and headed toward suburban Tuxedo. There had been an argument in the cab, after which she left. As she grasped the door handle, Mrs. Berard said, she saw Deacon's left arm raised and the driver slump over in the front seat.

She later attempted to reverse her testimony, saying she had seen another car come down the dark, deserted road and that it was in this automobile that the man had been slumped over. Mrs. Berard was then declared a "hostile witness" by the court.

Mr. Justice W. J. Major, trial judge, said her evidence was "one of the most amazing feats of mental gymnastics ever displayed in any court anywhere."

20,000 Flooded Out Of Homes, Mississippi Reported At Peak

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—Floodwaters pouring into the Mississippi River, which already have made more than 20,000 homeless and have inundated nearly 50,000 acres of farm lands in eastern Missouri and western Illinois, appeared today to have reached a high point.

Rivermen and United States army engineers expressed belief only further rains would aggravate the situation, but they also said several river towns in Illinois and Missouri still faced serious flood conditions, despite the promise of receding waters.

Water was eight to 10 feet deep in the village of Alexandria, Mo., near Iowa line, the result of a levee break, and all residents have been evacuated. In this city of 20,000, the waters covered nine blocks of the town's main street. Some 4,000 residents of South Hannibal were partially isolated.

At Canton, Mo., 30 miles upstream, the river had reached a stage of 19.92 feet, an all-time high. Half of the town was under water.

A river land district levee, two miles north of Louisiana, broke Monday, flooding 3,000 acres.

At Quincy, Ill., where the Mississippi reached a record stage of 23.6 feet, railroad yards on the waterfront were flooded, but the town itself, situated on a bluff, was not endangered.

In central Missouri, additional thousands of acres of crop land were inundated as flood waters of the Grand and Chariton rivers joined the Missouri.

Children Asked Not To Harm Tree Bark

Parents were requested today to see that their children do not take the bark of trees on city boulevards, in an appeal made by W. H. Warren, superintendent of parks.

"We have had a number of complaints about the bark being taken off trees at Vancouver and Pendergast Streets, and on Linden and Oxford," Mr. Warren said.

He said there was an investment of $15 to $20 in each tree at their present growth, and added that it did not take much to ruin them.

"This sort of thing happens every year, but it is worse than ever this year," Mr. Warren said.

Nanaimo Laundry Picketed As Status Of Strike Probed

NANAIMO (CP)—While 24 men and women pickets patrolled sidewalks in front of the large plate glass windows of the strike-bound Imperial Laundries here today, proprietors and office staff could be seen working at various types of machines.

The strike began Monday when 30 employees walked off the job in protest against dismissal of two women workers. It was seen as the first test of B.C.'s new labor law outlawing strikes without a government-sponsored vote, but Barrie Gault, chief executive officer of the Labor Relations Board, said the question of the legal status of the strike could not be decided until all details were known.

John and David Cook, proprietors, said 20 persons were keeping essential work going at the laundry, which included the laundering of a large quantity of "wet wash" which otherwise would spoil.

First labor comment on the walkout came from Nanaimo-Nanosee Sub-Local 1-80, I.W.A., which termed the laundry's action as "direct employer interference in the affairs of trade union organization."

A joint meeting of both factions was planned pending the arrival of a Provincial Labor Department conciliator from Victoria later today.

Spokesman for the Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.) said today the council did not intend to make this strike a test of power, although Thomas Frantorppe, Canadian Congress of Labor organizer for Vancouver Island, has been in touch with the situation at Nanaimo.

Naden Gas School Needed, City Hears

The city was informed by letter today that the Anti-Gas School Building at H.M.C.S. Naden is required indefinitely and is not available for disposal.

The building has been in continuous use as a school since January of this year, with no other building in the vicinity suitable for such a school, the Deputy Minister of National Defence wrote.

"For your information, due to a shortage of personnel it has not been possible to maintain a continuous watch on the building and it was found necessary to board up the windows in order to prevent theft of, or damage to, the equipment," the letter said.

C. W. Marshall Named Film Supervisor

Charles W. Marshall has been appointed B.C. regional supervisor of the National Film Board. Mr. Marshall is well known in Victoria, having served two and a half years as the representative of the film board in this city. He has been employed in the Vancouver office of the board as assistant supervisor since December, 1946.

Britons Kidnapped By Palestine Jews Released Unharmed

JERUSALEM (AP)—Two British officers kidnapped Monday by extremists were released unharmed today at Kiriat Shaul as a British military cordon prepared to search that Jewish colony.

A government announcement said the two men walked toward the British troops after the cordon had been thrown around the colony, which is near the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

The search of the area went on as scheduled.

Military patrols had been scouring the area since the two were seized at a crowded swimming pool at Ramat Gan.

Haganah, a moderate Jewish underground organization, earlier had publicly appealed to Palestine Jewry to help in tracing the victims.

The Palestine government immediately issued an official announcement that it was refraining from any action "which would hamper the Jewish community in meeting the call" of Haganah.

The statement said the government "takes a most serious view of this (kidnapping) outrage and notes that the Jewish community has been called upon to secure the immediate release of the men."

Soviet Proposals On World Police Facing Rejection

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—United Nations' Security Council delegates marshaled more arguments today against Russia's insistence that every big power supply exactly the same number of men, ships and planes to a proposed U.N. global police force.

Britain and China were among those expected to speak in general debate, and both held views opposed to those of the Soviet Union. Along with the United States and France, the two favor "comparable" contributions.

China's reasoning pivoted around the contention that acceptance of the Russian proposal would leave the international force virtually without major weapons.

MAJOR FACTOR

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain planned to couple his opposition to the Russian plan with a plea for progress in establishing the global force, which Britain views as one of the major keys to success of the U.N.

The United States, Belgium and Australia already have rejected the Soviet proposal in council debate. In the military staff committee, where the first report on a global force was prepared, Russia was voted down 4 to 1.

Other U.N. developments: The 11-member commission investigating Palestine scheduled its departure by plane today and tomorrow for the Holy Land. The inquiry officially will get under way in Jerusalem on Sunday.

The Security Council Balkan Investigating Commission will meet Thursday to complete its report, with council debate likely to begin June 23.

Monty To Visit India

The Victoria Fire Department attended at the Rex Hotel, Stofe Street, at 3.27 this morning and put out a fire which firemen said started from wallpaper cuttings left in a heap. A portion of a wall partition was damaged by fire.

Theodore Ainsley appeared in city police court today charged with theft of $88.23 in cash, an overcoat and a revolver, the property of Reginald Lachne, Rex Hotel, and after electing trial in a higher court he was remanded to next Monday for preliminary hearing by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Crawford, who will arrive in Victoria June 16 to examine candidates for the local examinations conducted by the Toronto Conservatory of Music. Born near Glasgow, Scotland, Mr. Crawford came to Canada in 1922 as organist of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Toronto, and to join the teaching and examining staff of the Toronto Conservatory. Since then he has identified himself with the musical life of Canada as a recitalist, composer, lecturer and conductor. In 1932 he became organist and choir-master of Timothy Eaton Memorial Church in Toronto, recently resigning that post to devote his whole time to teaching and to composition.

Police Recover Car Stolen May 13

The Hill's U-Drive car which was stolen from in front of the Oak Bay Beach Hotel on the night of May 13 has been recovered by provincial police in Nanaimo, and Clarence Arthur Billett, Victoria, appeared in Nanaimo police court today charged with illegal possession, Insp. Robert Owen reported.

The car, a 1946 Plymouth sedan, had a sand color paint job when it was reported missing, but when the B.C. Police detachment in Nanaimo recovered it in a garage it had a new coat of blue paint and was minus its license plate.

Parlor Terrier Show Set For Next Week

The Island Terrier Club will hold its first parlor show of 1947 on June 18 in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden.

The show will be restricted to terriers only and while a dog may not be registered in the Canadian Kennel Club, it will be eligible if it is purebred.

There will be children's handling classes and a special green class for dogs never shown before. Many fine trophies have been donated.

The services of the well-known dog-fancier and breeder, Alec McLoyle, have been secured to judge the show.

Campbell Risks All In Speed Test With Jet-Engine Craft

LONDON (CP)—Sometime in June, 61-year-old Sir Malcolm Campbell, who says he wouldn't argue "if somebody called me a fool," will take over controls of a jet-engine speed-boat at Lake Coniston in Lancashire and make a bid to break his 1939 world water speed record of 141.74 miles an hour. It is a venture into the unknown.

No one has traveled in a jet-powered boat before. No one knows exactly what happens when a person tries, but Sir Malcolm is determined to find out.

"All my life I have set myself certain objectives," he said in an interview, "and I've striven until I reached them. With some people the objective in life is money; with others power. With me it is speed and achieving what I have set out to do."

The water must be smooth—a ripple could make the boat leap 30 to 40 feet. The course must be cleared of all obstructions—a bottle, a tin, can or a piece of wood might be disastrous.

On a boat there are no brakes. On a jet-driven boat there is not even the drag of the propeller as the engine is throttled down. "I can stop Blue Bird only by gradually easing the accelerator," he explains. "If I decelerate too suddenly, her nose may dip under"—and jet boats don't operate under water.

If the boat goes too fast it will take to the air, turn over on her back and that will be "it" for this world-famous speed merchant—first man to drive faster than 300 miles an hour in a racing car.

Babe Didrikson In British Golf Win

GULLANE, Scotland (AP)—Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias of Denver and Ruth Woodward of Fall River, Mass., fought their way into the fourth round of the British women's amateur golf championship today as their fellow American, Helen Seigel of Philadelphia, bowed out in a third-round match.

Playing true to form, the highly favored Babe had little difficulty in polishing off Mrs. Val Reddan, former Irish champion, 6 and 4.

Miss Woodward, however, ran into tough going, and barely eked out a 1-up victory over Catherine Park of Scotland.

Miss Seigel, playing with a wrist injury, was the victim of a 3 and 2 defeat by Miss M. G. Smyth, Irish internationalist.

Congdon Leader In Oregon Open Golf

BEND, Ore. (AP)—Chuck Congdon, Tacoma ace, took a first-half lead in the Oregon open golf championship play here Monday with his three-under-par 141 for the 36-hole opening rounds.

The northwest P.G.A. champion was the only pro or amateur to chop up the par figures as the field of 49 Pacific Northwest players reached the halfway mark. He carded rounds of 74 and 67. His second round was five strokes under regulation figures for the 6,487-yard course.

Confederation Life representatives have a youthful outlook. Many are young veterans who have been trained to call upon other young men to explain the immediate protection—as well as the long term benefits—obtainable through Confederation Life policies.

They know the peace of mind that comes from having financial security for themselves and their families.

Nothing but life insurance assures so much immediate and future financial protection for so little. The great thing is to make a start with one policy; then build up additional security as your earning powers and responsibilities increase.
